Establishment and Tools and Plant charges in the Public Works Department and the method of distribution thereof among the various major heads.

Establishments employed by the Public Works Department are generally joint establishments employed on works charged under two or more major heads. The establishment charges of a Public Works division or office are in the first instance recorded under a single major head under which the division or office is classified for the purpose. At the end of the year they are distributed amongst the various accounts which record the expenditure of the Public Works Department in proportion to the works expenditure under each head affected. Any special establishment, however, which is wholly employed on a work is entirely charged to that work and is not included in these pro rata calculations. Similarly the cost of purely revenue establishments employed entirely on the management of irrigation, navigation, etc., works and assessment, etc., of connected revenue, is charged direct to the Irrigation revenue account.

2. Similar remarks apply also to the charges on account of ordinary tools and plant used in the Public Works Department. The cost of special tools and plant, i.e., tools, plant machinery, etc., obtained to meet the special requirements of a particular work or project, is treated as a direct charge to the work or project concerned.

Section N.—Public Debt.

Section S.—Loans between Central and Provincial Governments.

The Public Debt of India may be treated under the following heads:—

- (a) The debt of the Central Government.
- (b) The debt of the several Provincial Governments
- (c) The classification of the debt.

The Public Debt of the Central Government.

The Public Debt of the Central Government is divided in the accounts into two classes:—(a) Permanent Debt and (b) Floating Debt. 'Permanent Debt' includes all debt, which at the time when it is raised has a currency of more than 12 months. The term 'Floating Debt' is applied to borrowings of a purely temporary nature such as treasury bills and ways and means advances from the Imperial Bank or the Gold Standard Reserve with a currency of not more than 12 months. Prior to 1921-22 short-term loans of five years or less including the purely floating debt in the form of treasury bills and ways and means advances were classed as 'Temporary Debt.'

3. The Public Debt of the Central Government consists of rupee loans raised in India and sterling loans raised in England. At the end of 1924-25, the rupee loans bearing interest amounted in round figures to Rs. 4,20 crores and the sterling loans to £341 million, or a total interest bearing debt of Rs. 7,61 crores, the sterling figures being converted into rupees at the rate of rupees ten per pound. The sterling debt includes £18,500 000 on account of Debenture Stock of the East Indian Railway Company the liability in respect of which was assumed by the Secretary of State on the termination of the contract with the Company on 1st January 1925, and also £58,836,520 on account of balance of the capital liability involved in the purchase of Railways under redemption by Annuities, which has been transferred to General Revenues on the separation of Railways from the general finances of the Government of India. There is besides a small balance of rupee debt, not bearing interest amounting to Rs. 34,43,488 which represents the unclaimed balance of old loans which have been notified for discharge and have ceased to bear interest from the due date of discharge. The amounts unclaimed are usually retained in the accounts of Government as debt for twenty years from the date of discharge of the loans, after this period the unclaimed balances are written off the debt account by credit to Revenue, payments of amounts subsequently claimed being also charged to Revenue.

4. Funds are also raised by the Secretary of State by the issue of Debentures through Railway Companies working State lines. The interest on these is guaranteed by the Secretary of State, but they are not in the nature of direct obligations incurred by him and are not therefore included in the Public Debt of the Government of India. The funds raised in this manner to end of the year 1924-25 are shown in Account No. 25-A.

5. Rule 3 of the Local Government (Borrowing) Rules framed under the Government of India Act, confers on the Central Government such powers as may be necessary to secure the co-ordination of public issues of the several Governments in India and to minimise the disadvantages of competition between the various borrowing authorities. In such cases and also where a Local Government has not the advantage of a borrowing market of its own, the Central Government generally comes to the assistance of the Local Governments by the grant of loans and advances from its own resources. These loans, etc., are deducted from the total Central Debt in Account No. 82 and are shown as Provincial debt in Account No. 82-A.

Public Debt of Provincial Governments

6. The Public Debt of the Provincial Governments consists of two sections, viz.—

- (a) Loans raised in the open market.
- (b) Loans and advances by the Central Government. (See paragraph 5 above.)

Under the borrowing powers conferred on them by Section 30 (1A) of the Government of India Act, 1919, the Local Governments are now empowered to raise loans in the open market, a privilege which was, prior to the Reforms, reserved by the Government of India. The purposes for which and the conditions under which loans may be raised by Local Governments are laid down in the Local Government (Borrowing) Rules. Up to the end of 1924-25 only three Local Governments, viz., the Governments of Bombay, the United Provinces and the Punjab raised loans in the open market in exercise of these new powers.

The head "Loans and Advances by the Central Government" includes besides the loans granted by the Central Government after the inauguration of the Reforms Scheme (see paragraph 5 above) the very substantial sums on account of Irrigation Capital outlay incurred by the Central Government to the end of 1920-21 and the unredeemed portion of the Provincial Loan Account, the former of which hitherto figured as Irrigation Debt of the Central Government. The Devolution Rules prescribe the gradual redemption of the liabilities involved in the Provincial Loan Account.

With a view to systematising the arrangements for administering the advances made by the Central to Provincial Governments, it has been decided to establish a Central Fund called the "Provincial Loans Fund" from 1st April 1925, out of which all advances granted by the Government of India to Provincial Governments will in future be made

Classification of Public Debt.

7. The bulk of the debt of India has been raised for the construction of Railways and Irrigation Works, the yield of which normally exceeds the interest payable on the corresponding portion of the debt. Accordingly the debt of India was prior to 1921-22, classified in the Finance and Revenue Accounts as (1) Railway Debt (2) Irrigation Debt and (3) Other Debt, to which two other divisions were added in recent years, viz., (4) New Capital at Delhi and (5) Bombay Development Loan. Of the above, items (4) and (5) cannot strictly be regarded as separate divisions of the Public Debt as no interests has hitherto been charged to the accounts of these projects in respect of the capital expended thereon. On the other hand, new divisions have come into existence owing to the application for the first time of borrowed funds to capital expenditure in the Telegraph Department and to capital works undertaken by Provincial Governments in exercise of the borrowing powers conferred on them under the Reforms Scheme. The Statement regarding classification of debt has therefore been recast so as to show in respect of each Government:—

- (1) The total debt.
- (2) The expenditure debited to the capital accounts of Commercial Departments.
- (3) The excess of (1) over (2), known as "Ordinary Debt".

The calculation of the figures of capital debited to Commercial Departments is shown in account No 82-B., that relating to Railways, which is rather complicated, being detailed in the foot-note (a) to the account

The amounts entered as capital debited to Commercial Departments include all actual outlay in those departments provided from Government sources, irrespectively of whether it has been financed by loans raised by Government or otherwise. The following are the sources apart from loans from which such capital outlay is financed:—

- (1) Ordinary Revenue.
- (2) Surplus cash balances
- (3) Savings Bank deposits
- (4) Net receipts under deposits and advances.

Till the abolition of the Famine Insurance Grant of £1 million on the introduction of the Reforms Scheme, the portion of the grant which was not devoted to outlay on relief measures and on protective works was also utilised for the construction of productive works.

8. It follows from the foregoing explanation that ordinarily the funds devoted to capital expenditure in any year exceed the money raised for the purpose, and that the actual method explained above of calculating the amount of debt utilised for Commercial Departments results in a gradual increase of this amount and an equivalent decrease in the unproductive debt corresponding roughly to the extent to which funds raised otherwise than by borrowing are devoted to capital outlay on commercial undertakings. The operation is reversed in years in which, owing to unfavourable financial conditions, funds obtained by loans are used in the ordinary disbursements of Government

Section O.—Unfunded Debt.

The term ' Unfunded Debt ' in the Government accounts is applied to a number of interest bearing obligations relating to funds deposited with Government for various purposes. These are :—

Special Loans.—The bulk of the obligations recorded under this head relate to endowments made by the late King of Oudh for the payment of pensions and stipends to his dependents. The British Government has guaranteed these payments and allows interest at rates which were fixed when the endowments were created. The remaining items consist generally of endowments for specific purposes of religious or charitable character, e.g., the maintenance of choultries for travellers, asylums for the poor, etc., which were accepted by Government from private persons at various times.

Treasury Notes.—The main item under this head relates to certain endowments for temples, the liability for which was taken over by the British Government when they acquired the territory of the Bhonsla Rajas of Nagpur. About 1865 the Government decided to issue treasury notes in respect of the capital of the endowments and to pay the annual grants in the form of interest on these notes.

Service Funds.—These represent the balances of certain funds intended for the benefit of Government servants but not under the control of Government which are allowed to deposit their funds with Government on favourable terms as to interest. The funds of this character at present existence are the Uncovenanted Service Family Pensions Funds in Bengal and Bombay, the Madras Military Assistant Surgeons' Fund and the Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund. The Indian Military Widows' and Orphans' Fund though under Government control is classed under this group for the sake of convenience.

Savings Banks Deposits and Special Accounts.—The items included under this head may be classed as follows :—

- (i) Post Office savings banks, i.e., savings banks established at Post Offices throughout the country with a view to encourage thrift among the ordinary public. Deposits are received into them subject to certain limitations and bear interest at a fixed rate at present 3 per cent.
- (ii) Post Office Cash Certificates, i.e., certificates issued for money paid into Post Office, the money being returnable at the end of five years with bonus working to an average yield of about 6 per cent. per annum at compound interest. The principal is also repaid on demand at any time within the five years but without a bonus during the first year and at a bonus based on a reduced rate of yield from the second year till the maturity of the certificates.
- (iii) State provident funds, i.e., funds established for the benefit of Government servants including those of State and Companies' Railways. Deposits are compulsory for certain classes of servants and optional for others; interest on deposits is allowed at favourable rates, and in the case of railways, the deposits by the employees are supplemented by contributions from Railway funds; the accumulated deposits are paid to the depositors on the termination of their service with Government and temporary withdrawals are permitted in the interval in certain circumstances.
- (iv) Funds of certain provident associations (mostly under private management) which Government has consented to receive at savings banks rates of interest. Among these funds may be mentioned the General Family Pension Fund, the Hindu Family Annuity Fund, the Bengal Christian Family Pension Fund and the Postal Insurance and Life Annuity Fund. The last of these is a Life Insurance Fund under Government management for the benefit of its servants, in which assurances are permitted up to a maximum of Rs. 10,000 for each life assured.

Appropriations for Reduction or Avoidance of Debt.

The credits brought to account under this head are divided into three categories :—

- (a) Sinking Funds for Central Loans.
- (b) Sinking Funds for Provincial Loans.
- (c) Other Appropriations.

2. As explained in the Note on '21—Reduction or Avoidance of Debt,' under 'Section E—Debt Services' (page 278), the heads (a) and (b) are credited with the amounts set apart each year for the Sinking Funds created for Central and Provincial loans by charge to the Revenue expenditure head 'Reduction or Avoidance of Debt' (see Account No. 45), and are debited with charges connected with redemption of debt either by purchase and cancellation or by direct discharge. On actual cancellation of the stock, the nominal value of the cancelled securities is shown as debt discharged in Accounts Nos. 82 and 82-A.

The nature of transactions under '(c) Other Appropriations' has been explained in the note under '21—Reduction and Avoidance of Debt'.

Sinking Fund Investment Account.

Pending utilisation for the purposes for which the Sinking Funds have been created, the amounts standing at credit of Sinking Funds of the Central and Provincial Governments have been invested in Government of India Securities. The amounts expended in the purchase of these securities have been taken to a separate head 'Sinking Fund Investment Fund Account', while the interest accruing from the investments has been credited to the Sinking Funds concerned.

No. 90-A.—STATEMENT showing the APPROPRIATIONS for the REDUCTION of CREATED SECURITIES in the PAPER CURRENCY RESERVE AND the APPLICATION thereof in the year ended 31st March 1925.

The Paper Currency Reserve was established to secure the convertibility of currency notes. This reserve is entirely separate from the Treasury balances.

The term 'created securities' is applied to securities created by the Government of India and issued to the Paper Currency Reserve as distinguished from securities purchased in the open market. The amount of such securities held in the Reserve on the 31st March 1925 was Rs. 51,69,86,500 (cost price being Rs. 49,12,62,946, see Account No. 62).

Under the permanent constitution of the Paper Currency Reserve, the amount of 'created securities' that can be held in the Reserve has been fixed at a maximum of Rs. 12 crores; and with a view to secure that the present holding of such securities in the Reserve is reduced within a reasonable period to the amount permissible under the permanent provisions of the Paper Currency Act it was provided that the interest derived from securities in the Paper Currency Reserve should be applied from the 1st of April 1921 to the reduction of these securities. This provision has, however, been temporarily suspended for five years by the Indian Finance Act of 1925.

(a) The debit balance represents the value of created securities cancelled in excess of the available assets to the end of 1924-25, and will be taken against the receipts of future years. The cancellations in any year are dependent upon the conditions of the money market during the year and may exceed the receipts appropriated for the purpose.

Profit and loss on Rupee Coinage.

The silver purchased for coinage is for convenience placed in the Currency Reserve generally on delivery to the Secretary of State in London or on shipment to India and remains there during the process of coinage. Payments for the silver purchased (whether in England or elsewhere) are usually made out of the Home Treasury cash balances and charged in the Home Accounts under the head 'Remittance account between England and India'. The response to this head is given in the Indian Accounts when the opposite payment is made from the Currency Reserve to the Treasury. This is done on receipt of intimation from the Secretary of State of the shipment of any consignment of silver or in some cases on the delivery of the silver in the Mints in India. The purchased silver is thus treated as a part of the Currency Reserve and is described in the Currency accounts as 'Silver bullion in transit or under coinage', as the case may be. In the latter case, i.e., when the silver is taken up in the Mints for coinage purposes, the following adjustments are also made in the Indian Treasury Accounts. The purchase price of silver is credited to the head (1) 'Currency Silver in process of Coinage' (a sub-head of Section P.—Deposits and Advances—Coinage Accounts) to correspond with the debit under the same head in the Currency accounts, and the outturn value of the silver is debited to the head (2) 'Bullion Advances for Coinage' (also a sub-head under 'Coinage Accounts'), the difference between the outturn value and the invoice value of the silver being simultaneously credited or debited to the head 'Profit on Rupee Coinage' (also a sub-head under 'Coinage Accounts'), according as there is a gain or loss in the consignment of silver. As the coinage proceeds and rupees are made over to the Currency Reserve in replacement of the value received therefrom, the adjustment in the treasury account in the case of (1) and (2) is reversed. If there is a profit in the consignment, the repayment to the Currency Reserve is completed and the head "Currency Silver in process of Coinage" is cleared before the debit balance under "Bullion advances for coinage" is fully wiped out. The outstanding balance under the latter head is adjusted when the surplus rupees coined are made over to Treasury. The head "Profit on Rupee Coinage" is also debited with all the charges incidental to the purchase of silver and coinage, such as, freight, insurance, etc., as well as fixed seigniorage of 2 per cent. on the outturn of rupees for the cost of mintage, which is credited as Mint receipts (see Account No. 63). The net profits as thus deduced is transferred to the Deposit head "Gold Standard Reserve" by debit to "Profit on Rupee Coinage" (see also Account No. 92). But if there is a loss in the consignment on account of high price of silver, the rupee outturn falls short of the value transferred from Currency Reserve to Treasury and the deficiency representing loss on coinage is made good by cash payment from Treasury to Currency, the debit in the Treasury account being taken against "Currency Silver in process of Coinage", and the head is thus fully cleared. The debit balance under "Profit on Rupee Coinage" together with incidental charges debited to this head as mentioned above is finally transferred to "Exchange on Remittance Account".

There were no transactions under this head in the accounts for 1924-25 as no coinage of new silver was undertaken during that year.

N. to W.—Debt, Deposits and Advances.

Exchange on Remittance Accounts.

Since the 1st April 1920 the accounts have been prepared on the basis of the rate of 2s. per rupee for the conversion of English sterling transactions into rupees. The sterling value of the rupee has however fluctuated largely since that date, the average rate for the year 1924-25 being 1s.—5·51d. per rupee. In consequence of these variations large sums have been brought to account as credits and debits on account of exchange in respect of transactions involving remittance of funds to and from England.

2. The present procedure for the allocation between different heads of exchange gains or losses is as follows. All exchange is brought to account in the first instance under the deposit head "Exchange on Remittance Account", (see Account No. 94). Adjustments are then made, both in the Central and Provincial Accounts, transferring the exchange in respect of receipts and expenditure in England to the Major heads, Revenue and Capital, under which the transactions in England occur. The effect of this adjustment is that the adjustments on account of exchange in respect of the revenue and expenditure of non-commercial services, which were up to the year 1920-21 shown in lump under the revenue or expenditure head 'XXIX or 40—Exchange', are now distributed over the respective heads of revenue and expenditure. (See Accounts Nos. 2, 3, 5 and 6.)

3. These adjustments are made monthly, the calculations being based on the average of the Calcutta daily market rates for telegraphic transfers on London, which is taken as the standard for effecting remittances to England to meet expenditure in that country. The treatment of the balance left under the deposit head after these adjustments are made is decided each year by the Government of India, whether it would be kept in suspense or treated as final loss or gain.

No. 94.—ACCOUNT of EXCHANGE on REMITTANCE ACCOUNTS for the year ended 31st March 1925.

Section Q.—Loans and Advances by the Central Government.

The loans and advances brought to account in this section have hitherto been confined solely to transactions with the public. Since 1925-26 the scope of this section has been expanded by inclusion of interest-bearing advances to Government servants for house-building and purchase of conveyance, which are now recorded under 'Advances Repayable', and also advances by Government of India to the Provincial Loans Fund.

The rate of interest charged on these loans and advances is normally 6 per cent. though it is occasionally varied for special reasons. Similar loans and advances made from Provincial Revenues are recorded in 'Section R—Loans and Advances by Provincial Governments.'

Section B.—Loans and Advances by Provincial Governments.

The Provincial Advance and Loan Account had its origin in 1888-89. The account as it was then constituted was a double account, (1) between the Central and the Provincial Governments, and (2) between the Provincial Government and the Local Body or other borrower. The funds from which these loans and advances were made by the Provincial Governments were treated as being provided by the Government of India from their balances. The Provincial Governments were charged interest at rates varying from  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to  $5\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. on the mean outstanding balances of loans at the beginning and the end of each year while the interest actually received was credited to Provincial Revenues, any writes off of irrecoverable loans and advances being also charged to them.

2. With effect from the 1st of April 1921, the entire responsibility for the financing of the Provincial Loan Account has been transferred to the Local Governments, the balances outstanding on this account on the 31st March 1921 being treated as assets of the Provincial Governments concerned. Such of the moneys relating to the old Provincial Loan Account as were not repaid out of Provincial balances before the 1st of April 1921 have been treated as advances made by the Central to the Provincial Governments (see Account No. 82-A). These advances carry interest at rates calculated on the average rates carried by the total amounts owed on this account by different Governments, and are ordinarily repayable in annual instalments before the expiry of twelve years counting from 1921-22.

3. As explained in the Note on Famine Relief and Insurance (page 406) the balances of the Famine Insurance Funds may be utilised in the grant of loans to cultivators. The grant of such loans and the repayment of the principals thereof are in the first instance debited and credited to this account. At the end of the year, lump sum transfers are made from this head to the head 'Famine Insurance Fund' for the transactions relating to that Fund (see Account No. 87). This explains the deduct entries appearing in this Account.
