* This leave was granted by Government on an erroneous report of the Accountant-General's office as to the Munsif's title to the leave; and it was therefore cancelled, but too late to prevent the Munsif from availing himself of the same, though only for a few days. A reference was accordingly made by the Accountant-General to the Government of India, asking that an exception to the rule (Financial Resolution No. 1812, dated 16th August, 1865.) might be made in favour of the Munsif, as that officer took leave on the strength of his office report. It was added that Man Mohan Lal had been on private affairs leave on half pay from 24th January to 12th February, 1859, and again from 16th to 20th December, 1859; and that if the favour asked for be conceded to the Munsif, it was proposed to recover from him the half pay irregularly allowed him on the second occasion, and to reckon his service towards the private affairs leave now taken from 13th February, 1859, omitting the five days' absence without pay in December, 1859. In reply, the Government of India permitted Man Mohan Lal to draw half-pay for six months minus five days of his leave, which commenced in January, 1872; but ruled that any future application from him for leave of any kind should be dealt with on the supposition that his last leave on private affairs commenced on the 6th October, 1872, i.e., six years after the date of his reappointment.—G. I., P. D., No. 128, dated 31st May, 1872.

* N.B.—The grounds upon which he commenced on Rs. 250, notwithstanding that he was drawing Rs. 400 per mensem at the time, are explained in the following letter of the Government of India to Mr. Lincoln:—

"His Excellency does not dispute your claim to the consideration of Government, but he wishes you to understand clearly that the position you solicit, in the executive department, is altogether different from that which you at present occupy. The good government of the country depends entirely on the efficiency of the officers selected to fill administrative posts, and His Excellency cannot consent to nominate to superior positions men who are untried in that particular branch of the service, however conspicuous their conduct may have been in other respects.

"The Governor-General directs me, therefore, to inform you that should you like to accept the opening which His Excellency is prepared to offer you in the executive branch, it will be necessary for you to enter it in the first instance as an Extra Assistant Commissioner of the 3rd class."

† The salary of the Civil-Judge, Lucknow, was fixed at Rs. 1,200 per mensem, rising to Rs. 1,500 by addition of Rs. 100 a month after intervals of two years. Mr. Lincoln was permitted to count the period of his officiating incumbency of Civil Judge as service towards annual increment.
