The Grand Master's Chair

This chair was made to the order of the Grand Lodge of England in 1791 for the use of the M.W. Grand Master, H.R.H. George, Prince of Wales, K.G. It is of carved gilt wood, upholstered in royal blue velvet. The back is arched, and supported on either side by fluted columns, while at its centre, within a scroll of carved oak leaves, is a pair of compasses extended upon a sector. Also at the top, on the dexter and sinister sides respectively, are celestial and terrestrial globes, each correctly delineated and revolving on its axis. The arms continue the oak-leaf motif, but terminate in lions' heads, whilst the supporters are similarly decorated but end in claws where they join the seat. The latter is carved in the centre of the front face with a pair of compasses and the Volume of the Sacred Law. The legs are tapered, the front pair being adorned with an individual leaf pattern. The chair was originally surmounted by carved Prince of Wales' Feathers encircled by his coronet, but in 1901 these were replaced by the coronet alone of M.W. Brother the Duke of Connaught, K.G., resting upon a carved cushion.

The following is a list of the various occupants of this chair since it was made:—

George, Prince of Wales, K.G. (George IV).	G.M. 1791-1813.
Francis, 2nd Earl of Moira	Acting G.M. 1791-1813.

THE historic, artistic and literary possessions of Grand Lodge have been accumulating for many years, and have now grown to be of such importance that Catalogues of them have become essential. W.Bro. Sir Algernon Tudor-Craig, K.B.E., P.G.D., has undertaken this work.

As most of the objects displayed in the Museum are of interest mainly on account of their Masonic emblems and associations, Sir Algernon's great experience of heraldic and other emblematical art has enabled him to compile Catalogues which will be invaluable to all students of Masonry. There are few people who realise the wealth of material displayed in the Library and Museum, illustrating both the traditional and authentic history of Masonry, and everyone who sets out to write on these Subjects will have real reason to be grateful for the convenient form in which these Catalogues describe the material available.

Introduction to Volume 1

THE number and variety of the exhibits in the Grand Lodge Museum make it somewhat difficult to select a few of particular interest to which special attention should be directed.

In the porcelain and pottery section perhaps the most interesting item is the Chinese punch bowl dated 1753, and enamelled with Masonic European figures, the design being taken from a colour print, by William Thompson, and copied on a later Liverpool tankard of about 1770. The Dr. Wall Worcester jugs of 1760 bearing the Arms of the Moderns are also rare and of Masonic interest. The Meissen figures of the Mopses are very attractive, particularly that of Augustus I, Elector of Saxony, purchased in 1936.

Although the glass is practically all Masonic, there is little that calls for special mention as regards age or beauty, except the early Waterford goblet, c. 1730, described on page 57.

The Grand Master's Chair, illustrated in colour as a frontispiece, has great historical interest for the Craft, having been used by all the Grand Masters since 1791, including four who became reigning Sovereigns.

Probably the most interesting exhibit of all is the State Sword of Grand Lodge, originally made for Gustavus Adolphus (1594-1632), King of Sweden 1611-32, an illustration and full description of which will be found at page 65. Attention must also be drawn to the regalia of H.R.H. Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, Grand Master 1874-1901, described on pages 66-70, and to that of the late Pro Grand Master, Lord Ampthill, on pages 70-77.

Mention should perhaps be made of the Egyptian maul, about four thousand years old, described on page 25 and illustrated at page 102. Its peculiar interest lies in the fact that it is much worn all round owing to being given a twist, by the mason using it, before each stroke in the same manner as modern masons use mauls at the present day. An amusing exhibit is that which announces itself as being part of one of the bones of Hiram Abiff!! (page 29).

The aprons of the various Degrees, both English and Foreign, show great variety. Little has been previously written about them. It has therefore been very difficult to date them even approximately, and it is hoped that any errors in this respect will be pardoned. The two that stand out are, of course, those of Napoleon and Murat, illustrated in colour at page 237. Others of peculiar interest are those home-made from handkerchiefs, used during the siege of Ladysmith, and described on pages 206 and 207.

Of the very large number of Masonic jewels exhibited the earlier ones, pierced and engraved in silver, will bear careful study. A complete collection of the Special Centenary Jewels is also on show. The heraldry on the various Festival Jewels leaves much to be desired, which is only to be expected considering their number and the hazy heraldic knowledge possessed by most of the engravers. The jewels of the Nine Worthies, the badge of the Gormogons and those of the Gregorians are possibly the most valuable of those on exhibition, but attention must also be drawn to the decorative stars worn by the Noble Order of Bucks, illustrated at page 177.

A complete General Index will be found at the end of the volume, which should render it an easy matter to find any particular exhibit in the Museum. All names of original owners or donors, where known, are included in it.

The Grand Lodge has been very fortunate in acquiring the copyright of Masonic Emblems and Jewels, published in 1917 by the late W.Bro. William Hammond, Librarian of Grand Lodge, thereby enabling many of the colour and half-tone blocks to be used for these catalogues, a considerable saving of expense in production.

In conclusion, I would like to express my personal thanks to the Chairman and Members of the Library Committee, as also to the Grand Secretary, for steady encouragement in the compilation of these volumes, and particularly to my Clerk, Bro. Charles Chubb, for his very great help in correctly typing out the many thousands of items in the Collection, and for his careful assistance in describing them.

Silver Centrepiece

Known as the 'Sussex Plate,' and presented to H.R.H. Augustus Frederick, Duke of Sussex, K.G., first Grand Master of United Grand Lodge of England, to commemorate the completion of twenty-five years in that office.

On the death of the Duke it was presented to United Grand Lodge by the Duchess of Inverness,[1] in September 1845.

This massive piece of plate has an elaborate base, standing upon four curved feet, with a decorative three-branched candlestick at each corner, while between them, in the centre of each side, is a panel surrounded with scroll-work and surmounted with ears of wheat and pomegranates. Two of these depict scenes from the building of King Solomon's Temple, the third shows a group of Masons, including the Duke of Sussex himself, while the fourth bears the following inscription:

> 'To His Royal Highness Augustus Frederick, Duke of Sussex, K.G., etc., etc., etc., in commemoration of completed twenty-five years, Grand Master of English Freemasons, from his affectionate Brethren, 1838.'

Resting upon the base, on a square platform, is a circular domed temple supported by six Corinthian columns, in the centre being an altar with a cushion, upon which are the square and compasses upon an open Volume of the Sacred Law, while seated at the four corners of the platform are four beautiful female figures in the classical style. One of them holds an architect's plan; another is shown with sculptor's implements and a bust of Homer; a third holds a pair of compasses extended upon a terrestrial globe; while a fourth has in her hands a telescope and a theodolite, and is gazing upward towards the heavens. The dome of the temple is elaborated round the architrave with the twelve signs of the Zodiac, and is crowned with a small figure emblematical of the bounteous Sun.

The whole weighs no less than 2020 ounces, and was made by Robert Garrard in 1837-8.

[1] The Duchess of Inverness was Cecilia Letitia Underwood, daughter of Arthur, 2nd Earl of Arran by his third wife Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Underwood of Dublin; she married 14th May 1815 Sir George Buggin, who died 12th April 1825, whereupon she took the name and Arms of Underwood in lieu of Buggin ; about 1831 she is supposed to have married ecclesiastically, but, owing to the Royal Marriage Act, illegally, H.R.H. The Duke of Sussex, K.G. She was created 10th April 1840 Duchess of Inverness, and died 1st August 1873.

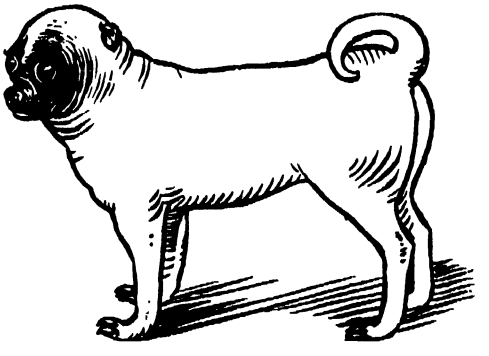
The Order of Mopses[1]



This Order is said to have been founded about 1738[2] by German Roman Catholics after the issue of the Papal Bull by Clement XII in 1736, excommunicating the Freemasons. The symbol of the Order was a Mops, or Pug Dog, the favourite animal of Augustus I, Elector of Saxony (1670-1733).

The beautiful Meissen figure in the Museum shows him wearing an apron, collar and jewel, and with a Mops at his feet. This figure was made in the Meissen factory about 1741, from a design by Johann Joachim Kaendler.

The two modern Dresden figures of a lady with a Mops in her arms and another peeping from beneath her petticoat, represent the Countess Kozel, Favourite of Augustus I. She was disgraced in 1717 and died in 1733, but although she is wearing the dress and coiffeur of about 1715, the figure was not designed by Kaendler until 1744. (See illustration in colour opposite.)

The two group figures of modern Dresden (reproductions of 1743 groups) represent Augustus II, Elector of Saxony (1696-1763), dividing the world with Adolphus Frederick, King of Sweden (1710-71). While both figures are wearing aprons, only the former has a Mops at his feet. (See illustration in colour facing page 11.)

Maul.

Found at Sakkara in buildings of King Zoser, reigned 2966 B.C.

'The excavations which have recently been taking place at Sakkara, near Cairo, have brought to light interesting details of the work of King Zoser, who is believed to be the third king of the third dynasty, and reigned about 2966 B.C. This is some nineteen centuries before King Solomon's reign. Under King Zoser's orders the oldest pyramid in existence, the Step Pyramid, was built. Amongst the debris unearthed was the mason's maul shown in the illustration.' (See illustration No. 3, page 102.)

Rough Ashlar, 5″: Perfect Ashlar, 5″, finely polished on one face: Rough Ashlar, 4¾″: Rough Ashlar, 4″: Piece of Limestone.

'These five stones were hewn from the Quarries which are situated under the north side of the walled City of Jerusalem, and are practically adjacent to the Temple area.

There is little doubt that the blocks of stone which formed the foundations of the platform round Mount Moriah were brought by King Solomon from the Royal Quarries, and still less doubt that certain portions of the Temple and other buildings in the area were built of similar stone from the same source.

The actual 'Sakrah'—the great stone altar of sacrifice in the Temple area, venerated alike by Jew, Christian and Moslem—is of the same formation.

The stone is a crystalline limestone known as Mizzi-Helu, and has excellent weathering properties, although it may be worked fairly easily. The presence of quartz and small fossils is revealed in the white surface when the stones are dressed, and the general effect after polishing may well have inspired Josephus to describe the Temple as "glistening in the sun like a mound of snow."

It will be observed that the rough ashlar is left somewhat larger than the finished stone in order to allow of further dressing by the more expert workmen. Our ancient brethren would certainly have finely dressed the perfect ashlar on five faces to ensure the best jointing, and polished the vertical exposed face to give the finest appearance.

C. W. Cowell, P.M. & Secretary,
King Solomon's Temple Lodge No. 4611,

Souvenir of the 33rd Installation Banquet of the Duke of Connaught Lodge, Colombo, No. 2940.

Designed in the form of a 'Book of olas,' and printed on the actual 'Ola' leaves.

'Olas are ancient manuscripts made up of narrow strips of Talipot Palm leaf, usually three inches wide and sixteen to twenty inches long, on which Pali and Sanskrit characters have been pricked with an iron "Stylus." The writing is made visible by the application of a mixture of finely ground charcoal and oil. The strips are strung together between two boards which form the cover. Many of these covers are elaborately decorated with embossed metal, and some olas are even enclosed in silver covers set with gems.

Pali is the sacred language of Buddhism, while Sanskrit is the sacred language of Hinduism.' Presented by the Lodge, 15th July 1935.

Set of Working Tools.

Inscribed 'A gift from the Grand Lodge of South Australia, A.L. 5933, A.D. 1933.

These working tools are made from the Myall and Mulga grown in Central Australia. The woods are from the heart of Australia, and the gift from the hearts of South Australian Freemasons.

The Myall, or Acacia Sowdenii, grows in very dry country, varies in height from six to sixteen feet, and is a close-grained timber. The Gavel (head only), Square, Chisel, Level, Plumb-Rule, Pencil and Compasses are made from this wood.

Mulga, or Acacia Aneura, also grows in very dry country; and is about ten feet in height. The wood is dark coloured, heavy, and very hard. The twenty-four inch Gauge, the handle of the Gavel, and the blade of the Skirret are made from this wood.

The Case is made of Red Gum, or Eucalyptus Rostrata. This particular wood came from South Australia, although it is a native of most parts of Australia. It grows as a large tree on the banks of creeks and water-courses. ADELAIDE, May 1933.'

Grand Chapter State Sword

This is the original State Sword of Grand Chapter, and was carried before the First Grand Principal from 1789 to 1816. The blade is waved, typifying flames ascending to Heaven or the Ascent of Prayer. It is engraved on both sides 'Peter English' and bears the mark of a crowned head. The gilt cross pieces are plain serpents, the pommel being engraved on one side 'The Gift of the Excellent John Paiba Esq.,' and on the other 'Crescitque Eundo.' The grip is of copper wire, and is surmounted by a gilt ball, engraved with the double triangle and 'G.R.C. 5789.'

The scabbard of crimson velvet is mounted with four gilt bands.

Grand Chapter State Sword

This sword was originally the State Sword of the Grand Lodge of the Antients, 1751-1813. The blade is waved and bears the mark of a head (? George II). The silver gilt hilt is formed of a cross piece embossed in centre with Masonic emblems, the ends being entwined serpents. The grip is of shark skin and is surmounted by a ball embossed with Masonic figures. The scabbard of purple velvet has four silver gilt mounts, the second bearing the embossed Arms of the Antients, while the topmost one is embossed with Masonic emblems and engraved round the band 'Jno. Beckett, St. James, Fecit 1741.'

This sword has invariably been carried before the First Grand Principal at Grand Chapter Meetings since 1816.

Scabbard of State Sword of the Gregorians

The scabbard is covered with crimson velvet with three heavy silver gilt mounts embossed with strapwork, the centre one with two hour-glasses, and the top one engraved on one side 'William Smith, First Vice Grand of Cheap-Side Chapter 1736,' and on the other side with the Arms of the Gregorians, viz.: Azure a fess wavy between in chief a dove rising and in base two serpents intertwined in pale, all argent. (See the Badges of the Gregorians on page 170.)

Grand Lodge Sword of State, by Heinrich Binger of Solingen

The blade of this sword was found lying across the body of Gustavus II Adolphus, King of Sweden (1611-1632) at the Battle of Lützen, 16th November 1632. It then passed into the possession of Bernard, Duke of Saxe Weimar (died 1634), and was subsequently acquired by Thomas, 8th Duke of Norfolk (1683-1732), 13th Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of England 1729-30, who presented it to Grand Lodge in 1730.

The blade was engraved on the one side with the portrait of Gustavus Adolphus (now obliterated), and on the other with that of the Duke of Saxe Weimar (still extant). The name of the maker is on both sides.

The silver gilt Masonic hilt and mountings on the scabbard were made in 1730 by George Moody, Armourer to Kings George I and II, and first Grand Sword Bearer of Grand Lodge.

The topmost mount on the scabbard is engraved on the one side with the Donor's inscription,

'EX DONO CELS^{mi} POT^{mi}
THOMAE, DUCIS NORFOLCI &c. &c. &c.
LATOMORUM ARCHIMAGISTRI
R^{nig} GEO II. P.P. 4°
A° {L. 5730.
{D. 1730.'

On the other side is engraved 'AMICITIA' above three hands conjoined;

below them,

'FRATER G. MOODY
FECIT.'

The centre mount on the scabbard is embossed on the one side with the figure of the Grand Master, and on the other with those of the Senior and Junior Grand Wardens.

The mount at point of scabbard is embossed with strapwork ending in a ducal coronet. Between the mounts are embroidered the Arms of Howard and those of Grand Lodge.

Since 1730 the sword has invariably been carried before the Grand Master in Grand Lodge.

Obverse, head of Henry Price, and inscription, 'Henry Price, Founder of duly constituted Masonry in America,' with maker's mark 'H. M.' Reverse, Arms of Grand Lodge of Massachusetts and the date '1733.' On the rim is inscribed 'Gorhamco.'

Henry Price was born in England about 1697, and died in Massachusetts in 1780. (See Portrait in Volume II, page 78.)

Purple Collarette and Jewel of Grand Lodge of New York.

Issued on the occasion of the 150th anniversary of that body. Organised 15th December 1782, under Provincial Grand Warrant of Atholl Grand Lodge (Antients), but declared itself independent in 1787.

Jewel of Grand Orient of Brazil.

Inscribed on reverse, '12th Dec. 1912, Amicitia Sempiterna. W.Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Ampthill, G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E.'

Collarette and Jewel of the Grand National Mother Lodge of the Three Globes at Berlin.

The collarette is scarlet with two thin bands of gold.

King Frederick II, returning as Crown Prince with his father from Holland in 1738, was secretly initiated in Brunswick, and was so pleased with the Order that on his accession in 1740 he openly proclaimed the fact that he was a Freemason, and founded a Lodge which he called 'La Loge Première' or 'La Loge du Roi.' However, when the King left for the first Silesian War the Lodge broke up, but certain of the members founded, with the King's permission, on 13th September 1740, the 'Lodge of the Three Globes,' and this body began to found other Lodges, finally, in 1744, adopting the name of 'Die Grosse Königliche Mutterloge zu den Drei Weltkugeln' (Grand Royal Mother Lodge of the Three Globes). The King accepted the office of Grand Master.

Collarette and Jewel of the Grand National Lodge at Berlin.

The collarette is pale blue with two thin bands of purple edged with gold, and the jewel is in the form of a key bearing the inscription 'Grosse Landesloge der Freimaurer von Deutschland.'

This Grand Lodge was founded owing to the efforts of Johann Wilhelm Ellenberger, generally known as von Zinnendorf, who was formerly Grand Master of the Grand National Mother Lodge of the Three Globes, but who resigned from that body in 1767 after having had differences of opinion with the 'Strict Observance' group under the leadership of Baron von Hund, who disagreed with his championing of the three Degrees of the English system—described as the 'Lax Observance'—and his desire for imitation of the system as practised in Sweden.

In the year 1773 the 'Grosse Landesloge' obtained a Warrant from the Grand Lodge of England. The actual date of its foundation was 27th December 1770.

Pale Blue Collarette and Jewel of the Lodge of the Three Golden Keys.

The jewel is in the form of a key engraved, 'Johannisloge zu den Drei Goldenen Schlüsseln' and 'Berlin 9 Mai, 1913.'

This was one of the first Lodges founded by von Zinnendorf after his resignation from the Grand National Mother Lodge of the Three Globes in 1767, and was one of the seven which on 27th December 1770 founded the Grand Lodge known as the 'Grosse Landesloge.'

Scarlet Collarette and Jewel, Grand Lodge Royal York of Friendship, Berlin.

Yellow Collarette and Jewel, Grand Lodge Royal York of Friendship, Berlin.

In 1760 the Grand Lodge of the Three Globes in Berlin constituted a Lodge known as the 'Lodge of the Three Doves,' of which, three years later, Prince Edward Augustus, Duke of York and Albany, and Brother to King George III of England, was admitted a member. From that date it called itself 'Royale York de l'Amitié,' and in 1767 received a Warrant from the Grand Lodge of England. In 1798, however, the Lodge subdivided itself into four which formed an independent Grand Lodge, although it was kept on the English Register until 1813. At first it was known as the 'Grand Lodge of Prussia,' but in 1845 it assumed the additional name of 'Royal York zur Freundschaft' (Royal York of Friendship).

Jewel with Yellow and Blue Ribbon of Horus Lodge, Breslau, Grand Lodge Royal York of Friendship. Founded 1813.

Jewel of Lodge 'Zur Eintracht,' Berlin.

The ribbon is dark green with two thin bands of scarlet.

This was the oldest of the Lodges working under the Grand National Mother Lodge of the Three Globes. It was founded in 1754 as 'La Petite Concorde,' and was for a short time independent, but on returning to the Mother Grand Lodge in 1761 it took the name 'Zur Eintracht' (Lodge of Union).

Purple Collarette and Jewel of the Grosse Mutterloge des Eklektischen Bundes, 1783, Frankfurt-am-Main.

This was the 'Grand Mother Lodge of the Eclectic Union,' a confederation of Masons in Germany which consisted of Lodges that selected the Degrees which they thought most conformable to Ancient Masonry.

The jewel bears the motto, 'Prüfet Alles und das Gute Behaltet' (Try everything and retain that which is good).

Collarette and Jewel of the Grand Lodge Lessing zu den Drei Ringen (Lessing of the Three Rings) at Prague.

The collarette is mauve, edged with gold.

Jubilee Jewel, Grand Lodge of Czechoslovakia, 1928.

This is the 'National Grand Lodge of Czechoslovakia' at Prague.

Royal Blue Collarette and Jewel of the National Independent and Regular Grand Lodge of France.

Inscribed with the full name of the Grand Lodge, 'Grande Loge Nationale Indépendante et Régulière pour la France et les Colonies Françaises,' and 'Au T. H. et plus V.M. Lord Ampthill, Pro-Grand Maître de la Grande Loge d'Angleterre, Paris, 21st Novembre, 1929.'

This Grand Lodge was founded as late as 1913. (The Grand Orient of France, founded in 1771 from the 'Grande Loge de France,' is not recognised by most Masonic Constitutions, as it does not demand from its members belief in T.G.A.O.T.U.)

Collarette and Jewel of the Grand Lodge of Hamburg.

The collarette is white with a wide centre band of scarlet.

The jewel, which is in the form of a medallion, bears on the obverse the head and shoulders of Friedrich Ludwig Schröder, and on the reverse the inscription, 'Grosse Loge von Hamburg. Dem verdienten Meister vom Stuhl' (Grand Lodge of Hamburg. To the Worthy Master of the Lodge).

Friedrich Ludwig Schröder, born 1744 and died 1816, a celebrated actor, did much to rid the Freemasonry of his day of the pernicious influence of necromancers as exemplified in the numerous 'Higher Degrees.' He based his reformed system on the well-known English Exposition 'Jachin and Boaz.'

Masonry started in Hamburg in 1733, but this Grand Lodge dates only from 1801, when it became an independent body.

Light Blue Collarette and Jewel of the Grand Lodge of the Netherlands.

Freemasonry in the Netherlands dates from 1734, when the first regular Masonic Lodge was opened. The headquarters of the Grand Lodge are at The Hague.

Silver Medal of the Grand Lodge of Norway.

The first Lodge in Norway came into existence in 1740, but the Grand Lodge of Norway (Norske Store Landsloge) dates only from May 1891.

Silver Medal, Grand Lodge of Sweden.

Freemasonry was introduced into Sweden in 1735, and, apart from a period of seven years following its suspension by Royal Decree in 1738, has always held a very honoured position in the kingdom.

Badge and Star of Royal Order of Charles XIII of Sweden.

This was instituted by King Charles XIII as a special Order of Knighthood for Freemasons on 27th May 1811. Personally presented to Lord Ampthill by King Gustav of Sweden, 28th October 1932.

Collarette and Jewel, Grand Lodge of Vienna.

The jewel is in the form of a bronze medallion.

Freemasonry was introduced into Austria in 1742, but suffered suppression at the hands of Maria Theresa, Francis II, and Prince Metternich, although it has always continued to exist.

Collarette and Jewel, Grand Lodge of Vienna.

The jewel bears the following inscription in German, 'Presented by the Grand Lodge of Vienna to its Honorary Member, Lord Ampthill, Vienna, 24th November 1934.'

The collarette is yellow, edged with royal blue.

Small Metal Presentation Portrait, Presented by the Committee in Germany, 1913.

Obverse: 'To the Rt. Hon. The Lord Ampthill, G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E., Pro Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of Freemasons of England, the Hon. Committee, MCMXIII.' Reverse: 'Dem ehrwürdigsten Pro-Grossmeister der Vereinigten Grossloge der Freimaurer von England, Lord Ampthill, in dankbarer Erinnerung, das Ehren-Komitee, Bad Reichenhall, 1913.'

Loggia Italia No. 2687.
La Loge l'Entente Cordiale No. 2796.
Loge Deutschland No. 3315.
America Lodge No. 3368.
Helvetica Lodge No. 4894.

Illuminated Address.

The text of the Address is as follows:

'To the Right Honourable Lord Ampthill, G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E.

WE, the undersigned, on behalf of every Brother on the register of the Grand Lodge of England, offer our heartiest congratulations upon the fact that you have for a quarter of a century occupied the high position of Pro Grand Master.

During that period approximately 2100 Lodges have been consecrated, the numbers of Brethren have proportionately grown, and the influence of Freemasonry has been more and more widely felt throughout the world. These gratifying results have been in no small measure due to your inspiring example and unselfish zeal in promoting the principles and tenets of the Craft.

We feel that we cannot let the occasion pass without asking you to accept some token of the regard and esteem in which you are universally held by the Brethren, and we pray that the Great Architect of the Universe may give you health and strength to continue for many years those services to the Craft which have gained for you the loyalty and admiration of us all.

CORNWALLIS,
Deputy Grand Master.

P. COLVILLE SMITH,
Grand Secretary.'

September 6th, 1933.

Plaster Bust of Lord Ampthill.

This bust is referred to in the Grand Lodge Proceedings, vol. xxii, p. 589, 5th December 1934, as follows:

'The Board acknowledges with many thanks the presentation to Grand Lodge by W.Bro. Cecil Thomas, L.R., the Sculptor, of a bust of the M.W. Pro Grand Master, which will be exhibited in the Museum. A bronze replica of this work has recently been presented to M.W. Rt. Hon. Lord Ampthill by the seven Anglo-Foreign Lodges in London.'

Sloping Case A (1)

Early Jewels and Medals

The majority of the jewels enumerated in the following pages bear the Latin inscriptions 'Sit Lux et Lux Fuit' and 'Amor, Honor et Justitia.' The latter was a motto used by the Grand Lodge of England (Moderns) prior to the Union: it is also found on the Masonic 'token' commemorating the election of George, Prince of Wales, as Most Worshipful Grand Master, 24th November 1790.

Sloping Case B (1)

Badges of Worshipful Masters and Past Masters

Collar Badge and Chain of a Worshipful Master, Silver and Silver Gilt, c. 1775-1880.

The outside of the badge is a wreath of two branches entwined with a narrow ribbon and has at the top a pelican in its piety, and at the base a snake. A centre plate representing the sun in splendour forms a background all gilt, and imposed upon it in silver in descending order are the square and compasses, the level, and the plumb, with, on the right side of the plumb, the Volume of the Sacred Law. On the left side is a raised square surface engraved with an equilateral triangle above a circle and a square. Inserted are two paste stones, one for the level and one for the plumb. There is no hall mark, but the back is scraped as though some inscription has been erased.

The silver chain is double between tie links, which are of clasped hands surrounded by a wreath. Each side measures 13½" without the hook, and there are three cross links on each side, and three bar links between each tie. (See illustration opposite.)

A Badge similar in all respects to the above, c. 1775-1880.

This is engraved on the reverse with the cypher 'PSE. 7.'—Lodge Royal York of Perseverance No. 7.

Collar Jewel and Chain of a Worshipful Master (opposite)

Past Master's Badge, Silver and Silver Gilt, c. 1805.

A pair of compasses extended upon a sector, enclosing interlaced triangles and a sun in splendour between an archway, superimposed upon a square. The joint of the compasses is surmounted by a bow of narrow ribbon, all silver, set with paste, and the centre of the sun is a large topaz. There is no hall mark.

[1] Another badge similar to these is described and illustrated in A.Q.C., vol. xii, p. 65, and bears on the reverse the inscription, 'St. George's Lodge.'

Past Master's Badge, Silver and Silver Gilt, 1806.

A pair of compasses extended upon a sector, enclosing interlaced triangles and a sun in splendour within an archway, superimposed upon a square. Maker, John Robins ('I. R.'); hall mark, London 1806-7.

Past Master's Badge, Silver, 1812.

This is in the form of a pair of compasses extended upon a sector, enclosing below the joint of the compasses a multiple paste jewel, beneath which is an archway supported by Corinthian columns, superimposed upon a square and enclosing between the curve of the arch and the inner angle of the square, in descending order, a five-pointed star and a coffin. The capitals of the columns are surmounted each with a paste gem, whilst at the bases of the columns are engraved respectively a plumb and a level. The coffin is engraved on the lid with emblems of mortality, and the right-angle of the square is engraved with a representation of the Volume of the Sacred Law, bearing upon it a square and compasses, being linked by a tessellated pavement to the centre of the sector. Pendent from beneath the sector is an engraved oblong frame enclosing an illustration of the 47th Proposition of Euclid. Maker, Thomas Harper; hall mark, London 1812-13.

This badge was found in a pawn-shop in Hong Kong in 1928, and was presented by J. D. Danby, P.D.G.Std.Br., China, 18th January 1929. (See illustration No. 2, page 84.)

Lodge Hall Stone Collarette and Jewel, Metal Gilt.

The collarette is pale blue. The jewel was designed by Bro. Cyril Saunders Spackman, R.B.A., R.M.S., and is in a form symbolising Sacrifice, with a perfect square at the four ends, on the left and right squares being the dates 1914-18, the years in which the supreme sacrifice was made. Between these is a winged figure of Peace presenting the representation of a Temple, with special Masonic allusion in the Pillars, Porch and Steps. The medal is suspended by a square and compasses attached to the collarette, the whole symbolising the Craft's gift of a new Temple in memory of those Brethren who gave all for King and Country, Peace with Victory, Liberty with Brotherhood.

The Hall Stone Collarette was issued to those Lodges whose total payments to the Fund, including its own donation, amounted to an average of ten guineas per member, subject to certain reductions in respect of Country and Dual Membership. Every Lodge so qualified is recorded in the Masonic Peace Memorial Building, and each successive Master of it is entitled to wear the Medal as a Collarette at all Masonic meetings during his year of office.

Provincial or District Hall Stone Jewel and Collarette.

The jewel is of similar design but is in silver gilt and enamel, whilst the collarette is dark blue. It was issued to those Provinces or Districts whose total contributions amounted to an average of five hundred guineas per Lodge.

Two Masonic Million Memorial Jewels, 12 carat Gold and Silver respectively.

Issued in 1921. The gold jewel was that of W.Bro. C. Wells, P.G.D., and was presented by him, whilst the silver one is the same as those issued to all subscribers of not less than ten guineas, to be worn by qualified Brethren on all Masonic occasions.

Sloping Case E (1)

Royal Arch Jewels

The following pierced and engraved jewels, which are of the pattern used by the Moderns Grand Lodge, are, unless otherwise stated, all of similar design, consisting, namely, of interlaced equilateral triangles enclosing in the hexagon so formed in the centre a sun in splendour, all within a circle decorated at the top with a ribbon and at the base the cypher known as the triple tau, beneath which is a scroll. There are engraved on the obverse, on the circle, 'Talia Si Jungere Possis Sit Tibi Scire Satis,' with, on the scroll, 'Nil Nisi Clavis Deest,' and on the triangles, 'Invenimus, We Have Found, "Eyphkamen," Cultor Dei, Civis Mundi . . . ' followed by the name of the owner. The reverse shows, on the circle, 'Deo Regi Fratribus Honor Fidelitas Benevolentia,' and on the triangles, 'Beauty, Wisdom, Strength, Concord, Truth, Peace.'

This particular pattern of Royal Arch Jewel has persisted to the present day unchanged, whilst the design known as that of the Antients has long become obsolete.

A ring of dark blue and red enamel and, in the centre, the badge on a purple background under glass. It has a red, white and dark blue ribbon.

Silver Gilt Jewel, c. 1800.

Maker, Thomas Harper. This large jewel ($4\frac{3}{4}'' \times 3''$) is in the form of two pillars based upon a tessellated pavement and linked by an arch: at the base and behind the pillars is a sector, above which and balanced upon it at the point of the right-angle is a square. Pendent from the keystone of the arch is a pair of compasses, the points extended upon the square, and in the space formed between the legs of the compass and the square is a sun in splendour. (See illustration No. 8, page 119.)

Metal Gilt and Paste Jewel.

This has two Corinthian columns linked by an arch and based upon a sector, the foot of each column being connected by a bar set with three large paste gems. Between the middle gem and the sector is a triple tau, whilst pendent from the keystone of the arch is a pair of compasses extended upon a square, all set paste, and enclosing three interlaced triangles, set garnets. The sector is engraved, 'Petivimus & Invenimus.'

The jewel is said to be a copy of the one worn formerly by the great Egyptian traveller Giovanni Belzoni (1778-1823) who first explored the Great Pyramid. (See illustration No. 2, opposite.)

A Collection of pierced and engraved jewels of what is known as the Antients' Pattern: they bear similar inscriptions to those of the Moderns, but the design consists of two columns based upon a tessellated pavement and linked by an arch, the keystone of which is removed, leaving an aperture through which the rays of an all-seeing eye shine upon a Volume of the Sacred Law which, with a square and a pair of compasses, is imposed upon an altar between the columns. On the face of the altar are the interlaced triangles found in the centre of a jewel of the Moderns' Pattern, and enclosed by a circle.

Jewel, 1814, of John Wild.

Thomas Harper fecit. Silver gilt. (Harper's No. 997.)

Thomas Harper fecit. Silver gilt. (Harper's No. 634.)

Jewel, 1820.

Made by Thomas Harper. Silver gilt. (Harper's No. 623.)

Jewel, 1820.

Made by William Halsall, Bristol. Metal gilt. It bears the number 167.

Jewel, 1820, of Director of Ceremonies of Provincial Grand Chapter of Lincolnshire.

Maker, Thomas Harper. Silver gilt. This is of unusual pattern, the actual badge being suspended from a design consisting of two columns surmounted by globes and linked above by an arch, the keystone of which is removed to give place to a glory. Immediately beneath it, between the columns, are an all-seeing eye, a square and compasses, and three interlaced triangles, whilst the base is in the form of three steps leading up to a tessellated pavement.

Jewel, 1829.

Made by Thomas Harper. Silver gilt. (Harper's No. 147.)

Jewel, c. 1829, of James Fisher, Albion Lodge (sic) No. 9.

Silver gilt. The centre is solid and covered with glass.

Jewel in Gold.

This bears no maker's name and no date.

Jewel in Silver Gilt.

Solid in the centre, with an embellished rim, a ring of paste, and the badge in the centre upon a dark blue background.

Jewel in Silver and Silver Gilt.

An outer ring of paste, with the badge in the centre under glass.

Jewel, 1836.

Silver and silver gilt: no maker's name and no date. It has an outer ring of paste, with the badge in the centre under glass.

Jewel, c. 1863, of Henry Jackson, Royal Lodge, Kingston, Jamaica, No. 250 (1839).

It is engraved on the reverse, 'H.T.W.S.S.T.S.K.I.' (sic), and 'Pro No. 1. No. 250.', and is in the form of two Corinthian columns based upon a tessellated pavement and linked by an arch with a large keystone. Within the columns and resting on the pavement are three graduated steps.

A Collection of Scottish Royal Arch Jewels

Old Jewel in Metal Gilt.

In the form of a triangular plate engraved with interlaced triangles and set in a framework of paste. It has a green ribbon.

Silver Jewel of Past First Principal, Scotland.

This is in the form of a pair of compasses extended upon a sector, enclosing in descending order a sun in splendour set in the centre with a large topaz gem, and an arch linking two Corinthian columns superimposed upon a square.

Silver Gilt Jewel.

An engraved circle, enclosing interlaced triangles with the letter 'G' in the centre, and 'S', 'U', 'G' at the points of the lower one. Tartan ribbon.

Jewel, 1792, of William Menzies.

This is of silver gilt and very similar in design to those of the Moderns.

Jewel, 1802, of Maurice Hastie.

Silver gilt. Tuppen fecit. This also is of similar design.

Jewel, 1819, of Moses Garrett.

Silver gilt, and similar to the last; at the foot within the scroll and above the triple tau are a pick, a shovel and a crowbar. It is in its original case.

Purchased 15th December 1931.

Jewel in Metal Gilt.

Made by J. Law, Edinburgh, and undated. This is almost identical with the Antients' Pattern, save that the altar is inscribed 'Solomon' at the top, followed by a circle containing an equilateral triangle enclosing the letter 'J', with 'Hiram' and 'H. A. B.' at the base, whilst engraved on the tessellated pavement are the words, 'We have found it.'

Silver Jewel.

Undated, of similar pattern, with a multi-coloured ribbon.

Silver Gilt Jewel, 1867, of Andrew Anderson, P.P.Z. St. George's Chapter No. 21, Aberdeen.

Exalted 9th February 1862. Maker, 'G. U.' This again is of similar pattern, but the altar in this instance is engraved with the triangle only, enclosing the letter 'J' coupled with a smaller 'S' and 'H', and surrounding the whole jewel is a circle with the Hermetic signs of the Zodiac in due order. (See illustration No. 1, page 119.)

Gold, 18 carat, P.Z.'s Jewel of Henry James Parsons, Chapter of Faith and Charity No. 72, Scottish Constitution, Bombay, 1880-1.

This is similar to the standard Grand Lodge pattern. The purple ribbon, however, is further decorated with representations of the sceptres of the Three Principals. Presented by Miss A. M. Parsons, June 1923.

A Collection of Irish Royal Arch Jewels

Silver Pierced and Engraved Jewel.

In the form of a circle surmounted by a square and compasses and enclosing a centre plate engraved on the obverse with the interlaced triangles as in the Moderns' Pattern, and on the reverse with the design found on the jewels of the Antients, the outer circle on that side being engraved with various Masonic emblems.

Gold, 18 carat, Pierced and Engraved Jewel.

Circular, with a crown at the top and the triple tau at the base. Dividing the circle are a sword and a sceptre in saltire imposed upon two interlaced triangles, whilst the spaces between them and the circle are decorated with shamrock leaves. It has a red ribbon, and is inscribed on the reverse, 'Presented to Comp. F.M. Lord Viscount Wolseley, K.P., G.C.B., G.C.M.G., by the Military R.A.C. No. 728 to commemorate his years of office as M.E.K. 1894-5.' Presented by Lady Wolseley.

Silver Gilt Jewel, 1833.

This is of similar design to the Antients' jewel, the centre being mounted on both sides with glass. It has a blue ribbon.

Presented by Sidney F. Ely, P.M. Caxton Lodge No. 1853, 26th June 1935.

Metal Gilt Jewel.

Design resembling the Antients' Pattern on a dark blue background under glass. It is representative of Royal Arch Jewels in use in Ireland between 1840 and 1876.

Order of Sanctissima Sophia

Little appears to be known of this apparently non-Masonic Order, which met at the Holborn Restaurant about 1907. It is said to have included ladies.

The distinguishing badge of the Order appears to have been a crosslet saltirewise.

The jewels and badges enumerated below were all purchased from the Booth Collection, 22nd July 1936.

A Large Hinged Badge (5⅜" sq.) in the Form of a Crosslet Saltirewise.

Silver, inlaid with mother-o'-pearl.

Breast Badge and Collar Jewel of Grand Knight of the Order.

The former is a seven-pointed star, with a representation of a flame between each point, and has a raised centre of purple enamel inlaid with a crosslet saltirewise in mother-o'-pearl within a circle and the words 'Dominus dat Sapientiam.' The latter, also of silver, is similar to the centre of the breast badge, but is flat: it has no points or flames.

Engraved on the reverse in both cases is, 'M.P.P. Eq. Mag. Ord. SS. Soph., x Nov. MCMVII.'

Breast Badge and Collar Jewel.

These are similar to the previous pair in design, save that the Latin inscription is set in the breast badge on a red enamel background, and in the collar jewel on a white one. Engraved on the reverse is, 'M.P.P., K.M. SS. S. 10.11.1907.'

Two Jewels with Ribbon.

These are silver, and in the form of a crosslet saltirewise, suspended from a purple ribbon by the representation of a flame.

Collar Badge.

A silver cross patée suspended from a flame, with a Greek cross in red enamel imposed upon it, and, in the centre, a raised circle with the motto and badge of the Order.

A Small Badge in the Form of a Crosslet Saltirewise.

Silver, inlaid with mother-o'-pearl.

Two Buttonhole Badges.

A silver back with purple ribbon covering, upon which is a small crosslet saltirewise, also in silver.

A Silver Ring.

Probably a signet ring of the Order, as it is stamped with the pattern of the crosslet saltirewise.

Ancient and Primitive Rite

French Prisoners' Work, c. 1790-1815

During the Napoleonic Wars there were a large number of French Prisoners detained in England, amounting at one time to as many as 140,000.

Amongst the Prisoners was a good proportion who were Freemasons, and their numbers can be judged from the fact that they were numerous enough to organise Lodges among themselves in various parts of England where they were detained. As many as 30 Lodges formed by French Prisoners are on record.

The French Prisoners of War were very badly supplied with funds needed to pay for their daily necessities, and tried various expedients to earn a little money. Amongst them were those who were accustomed to make little ornaments in bone and other small materials about Dieppe and in other parts of France. Men who were clever at such work copied the designs of the engraved silver jewels worn on a collar or as breast jewels by Freemasons at that time, very cleverly carrying out their work in the form of lockets, medallions, and jewels, with any little scrap of bone, mother-o'-pearl, wire, tinsel, seed pearls, glass or metal that came to hand, and further embellishing their work with daintily painted renderings of emblematic figures.

Other handiwork from the same sources took the form of straw-covered boxes and other articles into which similar Masonic devices were introduced. (See page 26, for straw-work Toilet Box.)

Oval Locket (2½″×3″).

This is of particularly fine workmanship, the artist having used scraps of wire, mother-o'-pearl and seed pearls, and employed water-colour to great effect.

Presented by Her Majesty Queen Mary, 2nd September 1931.

Large Chronometer Watch in Pinchbeck, with Case.

The watch itself measures $4\frac{1}{2}''$ in diameter and is $2\frac{1}{2}''$ deep. It has a minuet chiming movement and also tells the day of the month and the date. The reverse has an enamel face with a coloured design of Masonic significance and an aperture behind which revolves a procession of Chinese gilt figures. The case is of the double type, lined with velvet and decorated in bronze Chinese lacquer. Maker, Staples, London.

Gold Watch and Case.

The enamel face has the Arms of the Moderns in the centre, together with the motto, 'In the Lord is all our Trust.' The double case is of metal lined with tortoiseshell. Maker, T. Aspinwall, Manchester. (See illustration No. 5, page 179.)

Movement of a Watch, c. 1794.

The watch cock is pierced and engraved with Masonic emblems. Maker, Jas. Williams, London.

Presented by A. T. Paul, P.M. Burrell Lodge No. 1829, 19th December 1933.

Watch and Case, c. 1785-90.

The enamel face bears in the centre a Masonic design. It has a striking movement and is elaborately pierced and engraved. The case is double, also pierced and engraved, the front section being set with garnets and the back consisting of a Grand Steward's jewel of the Hogarth pattern inset crystals and garnets: the owner's name has been erased, leaving the inscription, 'Nield, St. James's Street fecit.' A small engraved slip found in the case shows that the movement was made by M. Murch, Honiton.

Silver Watch and Case, 1810-11.

The enamel dial is decorated with Masonic emblems. Maker, George Barton, London. Purchased May 1934.

Silver Watch and Case, 1811.

The usual numbers on the dial are replaced from 1 to 12 by: 'I.'; 'K.'; the Moon; 'O.'; 'T.'; a square and compasses; 'H.'; 'N.'; a group of stars; 'N.'; 'G.'; and a sun in splendour. Maker, Thompson, Woodbridge.

Presented by J. E. Franck, P.M. Lodge of Honor and Generosity No. 165, December 1922.

Silver Watch and Case, 1767-8.

The enamel dial has a Masonic pattern in black and white, and the hours are replaced by emblems. Maker, Daniel Lockwood, Swaffham.

Presented by Sir J. J. Smith, P.M. London Lodge No. 108, February 1930.

Circular Silver and Gilt Past Master's Jewel.

Presented by the Lion and Lamb Lodge No. 325 (now No. 192) to Bro. Peter Thomson, 4th March 1819, and to Grand Lodge 26th June 1933. It consists of a square and compasses enclosing a five-pointed star, all set paste, on a gilt background, also edged with paste. The jewel is in a pentangular mahogany casket.

Silver Past Master's Jewel.

Modern pattern, elaborately inset with paste. It was presented by the members of the Clarence Lodge No. 91 (now Lodge of Prosperity No. 65) held at the Angel and Crown, Christ Church, Middlesex, to Bro. P. Thomson, P.M. of Lodge No. 325 (Lion and Lamb Lodge; now No. 192), on 10th June 1824.

Presented by the Lodge of Tranquillity No. 218 (now No. 185) to Bro. Peter Matthews, 20th April 1838. Modern pattern, and inset paste.

Mother-o'-Pearl Square.

This is decorated on the obverse with coloured glass, the reverse being engraved with Knight Templar emblems.

Oval Past Master's Jewel with Ribbon.

This is mounted on silver and edged with paste, with a silver Past Master's badge of the Gallows Pattern type in the centre on a dark blue background, under glass.

Silver and Paste Jewel.

This is in the form of a square and compasses inset ruby paste, based upon a sector, with various other Masonic emblems, all set crystal paste.

Presented by E. S. Campbell, London Scottish Rifles' Lodge No. 2310, 4th November 1935.

Silver and Paste Jewel.

This is of identical design to the above.

Two Silver Past Masters' Jewels.

These are of the pattern in use at the present day, but are very elaborately set paste.

Silver Worshipful Master's Badge.

A narrow square, mounted with silver and inset with a single row of large paste.

Past Master's Jewel, Irish Pattern.

This is a particularly fine example of the use of paste, which is elaborately faceted and set in silver.

Past Master's Jewel.

This consists of a pair of compasses superimposed upon an all-seeing eye, in silver gilt. The compasses are silver, and inset paste.

Miniature Past Master's Badge.

Silver square and compasses, inset paste: it has a pale blue ribbon.

A Collection of Six Miniature Past Masters' Jewels.

These are all in the form of a pair of compasses based upon a sector and decorated with other emblems. They are all in silver, and set with paste or paste and coloured glass.

Miniature Rose Croix Jewel.

Silver, inset crystal and ruby paste.

Seven Royal Arch Jewels.

These are triangular in shape, edged with a single row of paste. The centre in each case bears Royal Arch emblems in enamel, under glass.

Masonic Study Society.

Collar and Badge of President, Collarette and Jewel of Past President, and Jewel of Member. All embossed with the Lamp of Learning.

Lafontaine Collection, 5th March 1938.

Gold Seal Ring, 18 carat, dated 1771.

The ring is engraved in chief with a sun in splendour charged with the letter 'G', and in base with the square and compasses; on the two sides are embossed the letters 'J' and 'B' over sprigs of acacia. In the centre is a gold-mounted revolving Egyptian scarab, engraved with the Royal Serpent and the Key of Life, or Ankh.

The ring may have been used by Joseph Balsamo, self-styled Comte de Cagliostro (1743-95), who called himself 'Grand Kophte of the Egyptian Rite.' (See Volume II, page 45.)

Coloured Illustration of the Egyptian Rite.

This represents Pharaoh Ousirei in Masonic communication with the High Grand Master disguised in Ibis mask. He has just been invested with the Triangular Masonic Apron, surmounted by the Apron of Serpents, emblem of Royalty and symbol of the Fall. He also grasps the Grand Masonic Emblem, the Key of Life, or Ankh.

Silver and Paste Jewel of Crata Repoa.[1]

This consists of a silver disk edged with crystal paste, with an eye engraved in the centre, represented by a small piece of azure paste. The disk is engraved, 'Crata Repoa. VII Prophet.' Pendent from the base of the disk is a Greek cross composed of seven paste stones, coloured to represent a garnet, a sardonyx, an emerald, a crystal, a jasper, a ruby and a topaz, the whole resembling the Egyptian Key of Life, or Ankh.

[1] Crata Repoa, or the Mysteries of the Ancient Egyptian Priests, was first published in Germany anonymously in the year 1770, and purported to show the means by which the Priests maintained all power and knowledge in their own hands, so that ultimately they alone were responsible for the appointment of the King and the government of the country, recruiting to their ranks only those who passed successfully all the separate seven degrees of the Mysteries. It is to be presumed that this jewel is that of an Order founded upon the revelations first published in the above-named book. The form, at least, coincides with the description given of the badge worn as a Prophet of the Seventh Degree.

Sloping Case N (1)

Collection of Snuff Boxes, etc.

Two Shells, Silver-mounted as Snuff Boxes, c. 1800.

The silver covers are engraved with emblems.

Sloping Case O (1)

Aprons—Royal Arch

The two aprons in this case are roughly trimmed, but still reveal the shape of the actual skin, and are fastened in place by means of strips of skin.

Two Large Lambskin Aprons, ante 1723.

Probably examples of the earliest worn. They are decorated in the centre with a double circle enclosing an equilateral triangle all in red ribbon, and the second is further elaborated with a large arch, which has obviously been added at a later date. (See lower illustration, opposite.)

Presented by J. H. Sillitoe.

Mitre as originally worn in the Royal Arch degree, c. 1790.

Covered with dark blue silk. 7th Light Dragoons Chapter.

Old Mahogany Sceptre of First Principal (Z).

Sloping Case O (2)

Aprons—Royal Arch

The three aprons in this case are also roughly trimmed, but still reveal the shape of the actual skin, and are fastened in place by means of strips of skin.

Large Lambskin Apron, c. 1800.

Decorated with hand-painted emblems. Possibly Scottish.

Large Lambskin Apron, 1809.

Edged with dark blue silk ribbon with a rosette at each lower corner, the flap being completely covered with the same material. Both the flap and the remainder of the apron are elaborately decorated with emblems in colour and gold, including the date '5813'. (See upper illustration, opposite.)

The apron was worn by the great-grandfather of Mrs. L. Stainsby of Saltburn, in Ancient Lodge of Dundee, and was purchased from her in 1904.

Large Lambskin Apron, c. 1810.

Hand-painted emblems in the centre and on flap, and edged with pale blue ribbon and an inner ribbon of red silk.

Presented by Marlow Lodge No. 2752, April 1930.

Sloping Case P (1)

Aprons—Royal Arch

Large Black Velvet Apron, c. 1800.

Elaborately decorated with emblems in coloured embroidery and edged with the familiar lozengy pattern in red and white silk ribbon. Possibly Scottish.

Large Black Velvet Apron, c. 1810.

Edged with a narrow band of pale blue ribbon and a narrow band of red, and decorated with emblems in coloured silk ribbon, the flap being completely covered with that material. Possibly Scottish.

Hand-painted with emblems, including figures of Moses, the Law Giver, and Aaron, the High Priest.

Sloping Case P (2)

Aprons—Royal Arch

Very Large Satin Apron, c. 1790 (29″ wide×22½″ deep).

Edged with a band of dark blue and red ribbon and fringed with gold. It has painted emblems in the centre and on the flap, and is probably an example of Finch's work. The property of Bro. Neville Rolfe of Sedgeford Hall, Norfolk. (See illustration, page 193.)

Deposited by Hamon le Strange, Prov. G.M., Norfolk, 1898-1920.

Apron of Thomas, 2nd Earl of Zetland, K.G., 1st Grand Principal, 1844-71.

This is of the pattern at present in use, save that there is a rose at the point of the flap and there are a shamrock leaf and thistle respectively at the lower corners of the apron. (See illustration in colour, opposite.)

Apron of Augustus, 3rd Duke of Leinster, 1st Grand Principal, Ireland.

Modern pattern, but decorated with a shamrock leaf at the point of the flap and at the lower corners of the apron. The tassels hang closer together than usual, and are designed possibly to give a more faithful representation of the ends of the tapes which originally would have hung there.

Aprons—England (Moderns)

Early Oblong Apron (11½″×8½″).

Plain lambskin, lined with white silk. The flap has a buttonhole near the point, showing that it was fastened up when in use, and the ends of the tapes are fringed with gold.

Plain Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1731 (13¾″×

The first pattern prescribed by Grand Lodge. The flap is designed to hang down, as in present-day use. It is edged with linen.

Plain, Shaped Lambskin Apron, 1770 (15½″×14½″).

The flap bears the badge of the Sea Captains Lodge, Sunderland, No. 177. (Formed as No. 218 in 1757, renumbered as No. 177 in 1770; now Palatine Lodge No. 97.)

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1770 (15½″×14½″).

Decorated with emblems in colour and gold leaf, including the flap, and with a narrow band of red ribbon about one inch from the edge of the apron.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1790 (16″×14½″).

Painted with emblems in colour and with a dark blue border edged with a fringe of silver. The flap is treated in the same way, and bears an all-seeing eye.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1794 (18″×19″).

Decorated with a design engraved by Bro. Hixon, 13 Bridges Street, Covent Garden. In the centre is an all-seeing eye, beneath which are various emblems including the sun, moon and stars, plumb, level, etc., over all being a square and compasses superimposed upon an open Volume of the Sacred Law. Beneath these is a platform approached by three steps, with figures of Faith and Hope on the sinister and dexter sides respectively. The traditional group representing Charity is engraved on the flap. Both the apron and the flap are edged with a wide band of black silk.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1794 (14½″×17″).

Engraved with the Hixon design, but fringed, and edged with narrow bands of black and red ribbon.

The property of Gustavus Hamilton (will proved in Dublin 1795).
Presented by Joseph Clarke, P.G.Sec. Cheshire, October 1922.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, 1795 (15½″×16″).

A Grand Steward's apron, decorated with the Hixon engraving and coloured. It is edged with a band of red ribbon.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, Sash and Portrait, c. 1795 (14½″×16″).

The apron is engraved with the Hixon design with the addition of a coffin in the forefront, and is edged with a triple border of pink ribbon, a pale blue fringe, and a fringe in black. The flap has two rosettes of pink ribbon with a pale blue fringe.

The sash is silk and striped with alternate bands of red and black, and bears the embroidered badge of a Knight Templar.

The property of Lt.-Col. Brooks Lawrence, 13th Light Dragoons. (Will, dated 30th July 1823, proved P.C.C. 28th August 1823 by Rosanna Lawrence, widow.)

Two Square Lambskin Aprons, c. 1800.

These are both engraved with the Hixon design. One of them measures 14″× 14″ and is edged with a narrow band of black silk; the other is slightly smaller, the ribbon edging on the sides having been cut away.

Presented by W. A. Moore, P.M. Beach Lodge No. 2622, 20th February 1932.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (11″×14″).

Decorated with emblems in colour, and bearing the words, 'Tace et Fidelitas.' A former edging has obviously broken away.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (17½″×12″).

Painted with emblems and edged with white silk.

Presented by John Willson, P.M., September 1894.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (17″×15″).

This has a 3″ border of red silk, the flap being completely covered with that material and the whole edged with a gold fringe. In the centre of the apron is the letter 'G' in gold sequins imposed upon a radiance of red silk, and the flap is decorated with a square and compasses, also in sequins, enclosing a star. There are two tassels of gold thread, each hanging from a length of cord. A Grand Steward's apron worn by William Masters, who died February 1803.

Presented by W. A. H. Masters, S.W. Royal Sussex Lodge of Emulation No. 355, Swindon, Wilts.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (19″×17″).

Painted with emblems and edged with a 1¼″ border of pale blue silk, also decorated with a painted leaf pattern. The apron of Bro. Henry Beaton, died 26th March 1819.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, 1811 (13″×10″).

This is quite plain, except for a 1″ white border along the top edge. The apron of Henry Frederick Delius, initiated in Pilgrim Lodge No. 340 (now No. 238) on 30th October 1811.

Presented by J. C. Robinson, P.M. 30th October 1903.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1810 (15″×17″).

Elaborately engraved with emblems, which are further enhanced by the addition of colour and of gold thread inserted behind the skin, which has been cut for that purpose. It is edged with a one-inch border of pale blue silk, and has two broad pieces of ribbon of the same colour, but with a centre band of white, hanging in the place of tassels. The apron of Bro. Isaac Robinson, Union Lodge No. 555 (now No. 310, Carlisle).

Presented by the Misses Robinson, 5th November 1936.

The Moira Apron, 31st March 1813 (17″×19½″).

In Masonic memory of Francis Rawdon-Hastings, 2nd Earl of Moira, Acting Grand Master 1790-1813. Born 1754; General in the Army 1803; wounded at Bunker Hill 1775; succeeded as Earl of Moira 1793; Master General of the Ordnance 1806-7; K.G. 1812; Governor-General of India 1813-23; created Marquess of Hastings 13th February 1817; G.C.B. and G.C.H. 1818; Governor of Malta 1824; died 28th November 1826. (See Portrait, Volume II, page 13.)

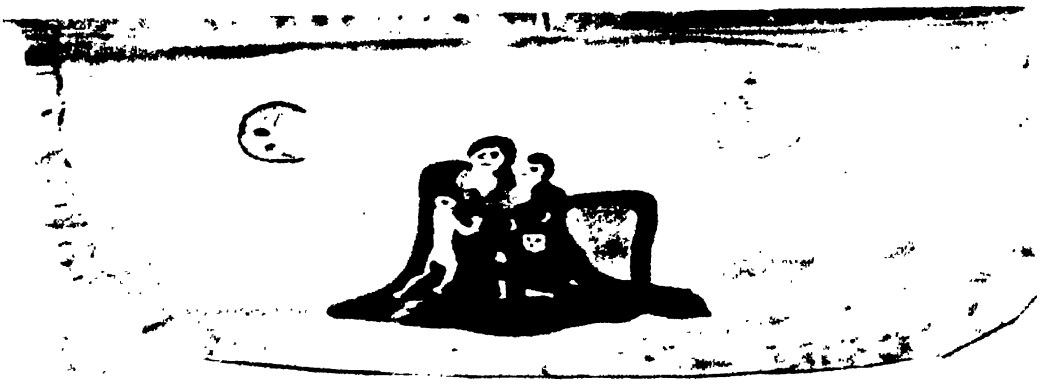
The apron was engraved by G. Johnson, Bristol, after the painting by W. Hobday. It is of cloth, edged with a ¼″ band of dark blue ribbon. At the top in the centre is the portrait of Lord Moira surrounded by a laurel wreath, and the remainder of the apron, which has no flap, is devoted to the very intricate and detailed engraving. Beneath it is the following inscription: 'If Wisdom in Council, Eloquence in Debate, Valour in Arms, Steady Patriotism and Universal Benevolence be deserving of record in the page of history and Archives of Masonry, no subject in the British Dominions posesses (sic) more genuine claims than the Right Honourable the Earl of Moira, Acting Grand Master of England, whose memory this Masonic badge is designed to perpetuate.' (See lower illustration, page 164.)

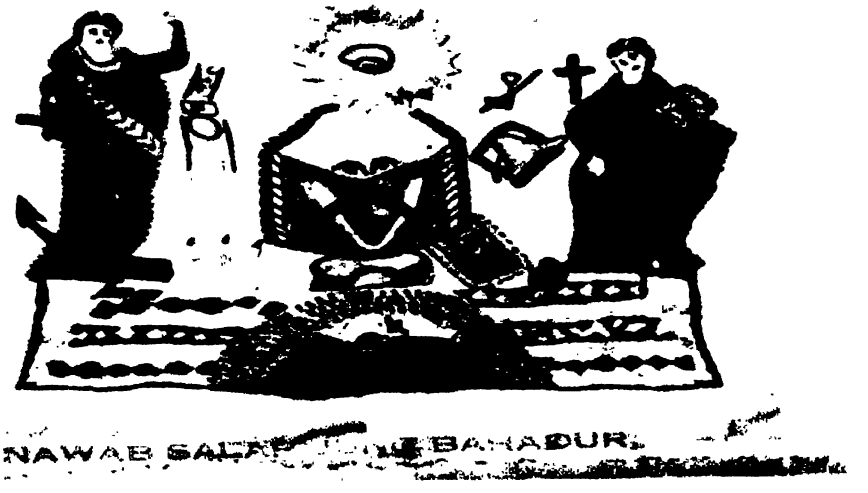
Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1800 (19″×16″).

Hand-painted with emblems, including an all-seeing eye on the flap. It is edged with a one-inch band of pale blue silk ribbon. (See lower illustration in colour, opposite.)

Large Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1803 (18″×23″).

Embroidered with coloured silks and edged with a one-inch border of pale blue ribbon. Copied from a design published by Jas. Willson of Tooley Street, Southwark, 14th February 1803. (See upper illustration in colour, opposite.)





NAWAB SALA[illegible] BAHADUR.

Aprons—England (Antients)

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1801 (15¼×19¾").

Decorated with engraving by J. Cole, Old Street and 22 Mount Pleasant, City Road, P.M. Gloucester Lodge No. 126. The design consists of a platform of mosaic pavement approached by three steps and with an arch in the centre, through which Noah's Ark can be seen and the dove bearing the olive branch. On either side of the platform are small pedestals with figures of Faith and Hope on the dexter and sinister sides respectively, while in the centre are the square and compasses superimposed upon an open Volume of the Sacred Law, over which is a beehive, with other emblems round about. In the centre are the Arms of the Antients, above which is a group emblematical of Charity, with a scroll between inscribed 'Masonry Universal,' and various other emblems. There is no flap, and the apron is bound with the vestiges of a ½" border of white silk.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1785 (15½"×11").

This has the Arms of the Antients painted in the centre, at the base of which is inscribed, 'Published by Bro. T. Sculthorpe, Chapel Street, Cripplegate.' There is no flap.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (15"×15½").

The apron is completely filled by an engraving of the Arms of the Antients, by W. Newman of Widegate Street. The flap has an all-seeing eye and is edged with a ¾" band of pale blue ribbon. A 1½" band of the same colour which formerly edged the apron itself has been almost entirely cut away.

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1790 (17"×19").

Engraved with the Arms of the Antients in colour, by W. Newman, Widegate Street. Between the Arms and the narrow edging of red ribbon are two separate narrow bands of dark and pale blue ribbon. The flap has an all-seeing eye, with the red edging only; but both flap and apron have a white fringe.

Shaped Linen Apron, c. 1795 (17½"×18").

Hand-painted with a large number of Masonic emblems, including the Cock and Noah's Ark. The flap has the sun, moon and stars and an all-seeing eye, and is also shaped. Both the flap and the apron are edged with a narrow border of dark blue.

Oblong Silk Apron, c. 1780 (18″×17″).

Hand-embroidered with emblems and a leaf border in coloured silks, together with the words, 'Holiness to the Lord.' Both the apron and the flap are fringed, and there are two fringed tassels.

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1795 (18½″×20¼″).

Hand-painted in colour with many emblems, including some belonging to the Higher Degrees. The flap has an all-seeing eye.

Presented by J. Cohn, P.M. Lion and Lamb Lodge No. 192.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, 1790 (15½″×16″).

Hand-painted with emblems in colour and a 1¼″ dark blue edging. The flap is small and semicircular, with an all-seeing eye and a similar edging, and both the apron and flap have a silver fringe.

The property of Bro. Martin Westmorland, initiated in Antients Lodge No. 3B, 4th March 1789 (now St. George's and Corner Stone No. 5). Presented by Charles P. Kirton.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1798 (15¾″×18¾″).

Decorated with coloured engraving. On a mosaic pavement of squares are two pillars, on the dexter side an Ionic surmounted by a figure of Faith, and on the other a Corinthian, with a figure of Hope. Between them, on a platform of three steps, is a group emblematical of Charity, and by the side of each pillar stands a Mason in regalia. On the Ionic pillar are the words, 'Be Virtuous, be Silent,' and on the Corinthian, 'Wisdom, Strength, Beauty.' In the centre of the apron are the Arms of the Antients, and above them the sun, moon and stars. On the mosaic pavement stand the three lights and various Masonic emblems, including a square and compasses superimposed upon a Volume of the Sacred Law, on the square being the words, 'Design'd and Engrav'd by Robt. Newman.' In the background are mountains, pyramids, Noah's Ark, emblems of mortality, a beehive, a partly finished building and an angel with a scroll inscribed 'Masonry Universal.' On the flap is a triangle enclosing an all-seeing eye, on the two sides being inscribed, 'Let there be Light, and there was Light.' At the base of the apron is the inscription, 'Dedicated to the Brethren at large of the Anct. & Honble. Society of Free & Accd. Masons by their Sincere Well Wisher, Bro. R. Newman. Publish'd as the Act directs, May 1st, A.D. 1798, A.L. 5798, etc.' It is edged with 1¼″ pale blue ribbon, and has a silver fringe.

Oblong Silk Apron, 1798 (19″×22″).

Engraved with Robt. Newman design in colour. Both apron and flap are edged with three bands of ribbon, dark blue, red and dark blue.

Oblong Satin Apron, 1798 (18¼″×20¾″).

Engraved with Robt. Newman design in colour. Both flap and apron have three separate narrow bands of dark blue, red and pale blue ribbon with a silver fringe, and there are two silver tassels hanging from cords.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, 1798 (17¼″×18½″).

Engraved with Robt. Newman design in colour. It is edged, as well as the flap, with two narrow bands of ribbon, pink and pale blue, though on the apron itself the latter has nearly all broken away.

Oblong Satin Apron, 1798 (19″×19¾″).

Engraved with Robt. Newman design in colour. Apron and flap are edged with a 1″ band of red ribbon, showing that it belonged to a Grand Steward.

Oblong Satin Apron, 1798 (18½″×21½″).

Engraved with Robt. Newman design in colour. Both apron and flap are edged with a 1¼″ border of dark blue silk.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1798 (17″×18¾″).

Engraved with Robt. Newman design in colour. The flap and apron both have a silver fringe.

Formerly the property of William Morfee, initiated in Lodge No. 222, Guernsey (Mariners), 22nd November 1803.

Presented by his great-grandson, Morfee Walsh, March 1930.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, 1801 (15½″×19¾″).

Engraved with the Cole design. Both the apron and flap are edged with a border of narrow red and dark blue ribbon, and fringed with silver. It is further elaborated with sequins and silver cord, and there are two dark blue ribbons with silver tassels.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1801 (14¼″×18″).

Engraved with Cole design in colour. There is no flap, and a former ribbon edging has completely broken away.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, 1806 (16″×12¾″), and Certificate.

The apron is hand-painted with various Masonic emblems, while the flap has an all-seeing eye, the whole being edged with a ⅝″ pleated pale blue ribbon. The apron of Bro. Augustine Harrison, Marquis of Granby Lodge No. 24, Canterbury. The Certificate is dated 22nd June 1806, and signed by Robert Leslie, G.Sec., and Edward Harper, D.G.Sec., and shows that he was initiated on 31st May 1806.

Oblong Silk Apron, c. 1810 (14½″×17¾″).

Printed with a design similar to a 'First Angel' certificate of the Antients. There are Doric and Ionic pillars on the dexter side, the latter surmounted by Hope, whilst on the sinister side is a Corinthian pillar, with a figure of Faith. At the foot of the two pillars is a group representing Charity, with various Masonic emblems. The flap has an angel with a trumpet, and the words, 'The Light shineth in Darkness, and the Darkness comprehendeth it not.' Both apron and flap are edged with a ⅜″ red ribbon border, and have a wide black crocheted fringe. 'Published by Bro. Hawkins, Fetter Lane.'

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1810 (14¾″×19¼″).

Engraved with the Cole design, and edged with a 1¼″ dark blue ribbon elaborated with gold thread. Probably a Grand Officer's apron.

Presented by W. D. P. Field, P.G.St.Br., 22nd February 1910.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1780 (12¾″×11″).

The apron is edged with a 2½″ border of dark blue ribbon. The flap is also finished with the same material, while from beneath it hangs an imitation bow of dark purple, with gold fringed ends attached.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1800 (16½″×18″).

Hand-painted with Masonic emblems in colour and edged with a 1½″ band of pale blue ribbon. The flap has the square and compasses in gold. The apron is signed on the back by John Wyvil, A.D. 1800.

Presented by Edward Bradley, P.M. Mount Lebanon Lodge No. 104 (now 73).

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (12¾″×13¼″).

Hand-painted with emblems in colour, reminiscent of Cole's work, and edged with a ⅜″ border of red ribbon, with a dark blue fringe. The flap has the sun, moon and stars on a painted background. There were formerly two fringed tassels, but only the ends, stitched to the apron, now remain. Possibly an Antients apron.

Oblong Linen Apron, c. 1800 (15¾″×16¼″).

The mourning apron of a Lodge of Sorrow. Embroidered in black and white with the square and compasses, two Masters' levels, and a leaf border. The flap has a third level and similar leaf border, and the whole is fringed with black, including the two black tassels.

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1800 (18″×17½″).

Hand-painted with a Masonic design emblematical of Faith, Hope and Charity. It is edged with a ⅞″ border of pale blue ribbon, while the flap is bound with a ¼″ band of the same colour, and painted with an all-seeing eye.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1810 (16″×17¾″).

Hand-painted with emblems in colour, and edged with a ¾″ border of dark blue ribbon. The flap has the interlaced triangles enclosing an all-seeing eye. Possibly the apron of a Grand Officer.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1810 (13½″×12″).

Hand-painted with a large number of Masonic emblems. There is no flap, and a former ribbon edging has completely broken away. Possibly an Antients apron, worn by Bro. Joy, of York, and presented to W.Bro. Overton by Bro. Joseph Severs, 23rd June 1905.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1820 (14⅜×12″).

Both apron and flap are lined with a 1⅝″ band of pale blue ribbon. A Worshipful Master's apron, with the levels as worn to-day save that they are of ribbon instead of metal, and the same colour as the border. There are two fringed tassels.

Presented by Major E. Warden Denniss, P.A.G.D.C., 7th March 1930.

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1825 (15¾″×14″).

A Master Mason's apron, with the three rosettes in pale blue as worn to-day, and edged with a 1⅞″ border of the same colour ribbon. The flap is edged with the same material, but there are no tassels.

Presented by W. R. Spraggs, Earl of Dartmouth Lodge No. 3279, 5th March 1936.

Apron made from Handkerchief (19″×11¾″).

This apron was made by W.Bro. E. W. Mawbey, P.M. and P.Z. Johannesburg Lodge and Chapter No. 2313, E.C., and P.D.G.D.C. Transvaal, whilst on active service with the Natal Carbineers during the Boer War, shortly after the Relief of Ladysmith. Blue pencil was used for the border and rosettes, and ink for the silver tassels. It was worn at meetings of the Klip River County Lodge No. 2401, Ladysmith, and at the first meeting of the Biggersberg Unity Lodge, Dundee, Natal, after the retreat of the Boer Forces and the return of the civilian inhabitants.

Presented 4th May 1925.

Grand Officer's Collar and Jewel of Secretary.

Inscribed on reverse, 'It was worn by W.Bro. Capt. George Hearn, Dep.G.Swd.Br.Eng., at all Masonic meetings throughout the siege of Ladysmith, 1899-1900.'

Summons of Klip River County Lodge No. 2401.

Signed by the above W.Bro. Capt. George Hearn as Secretary, and headed, 'Ordnance Office, The Camp, Ladysmith, September 11, 1899.' One of the items on the Agenda was to pass Lt.-Col. Lang Sims, O.B.E., by whom it was presented, February 1920.

Apron made from Handkerchief (15″×11⅜″).

Made and worn in Ladysmith during the siege, when ceremonies were worked under fire. It was used by Bro. Lt.-Col. Lang Sims, O.B.E., at the Klip River County Lodge No. 2401, and presented by him in February 1920. On the point of the flap is the square and compasses in ink, enclosing the date 1899, with 'Ladysmith' above.

Oblong Lambskin Apron (15¼″×13¼″).

Master's apron and collar of Willem van Oranje Lodge No. 3976, formed in Holland during the Great War by interned Britishers. The collar and ribbon edging, etc., including the three levels, on the apron are orange yellow. Presented by H. A. Darch, P.G.St.Br., 1st November 1934.

Small Shaped Lambskin Apron (8″×7½″).

An Entered Apprentice's apron, with linen strings. Possibly foreign.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1820 (16″×11¾″).

Of unusual design, there being no flap, instead of which the skin is cut very high in the centre. An Entered Apprentice's apron.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1815 (13″×10¾″).

An Entered Apprentice's apron, with linen strings.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1815 (12¼″×11½″).

A Fellow Craft apron, with two pale blue rosettes, and edged with a ⅜″ ribbon of the same colour.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1820 (14″×12¼″).

A Master Mason's apron, similar to those in use to-day.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1820 (14″×12″).

A Worshipful Master's apron, similar in design to those of the present day save that the tassels hang centrally, and the levels are of ribbon instead of metal. Presented by W. L. Aspinall, P.G.St.Br., July 1933.

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1820 (15¼″×15¾″).

A Master Mason's apron, decorated with emblems in pale blue and gold ribbon and sewn with silk. In the centre are the square and compasses, with the two pillars on either side. Three small rosettes are placed in the customary positions, and the apron and flap are both edged with a ⅜″ border of pale blue ribbon.

Presented by H. C. A. Martin, 24th April 1935.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1770 (12½″×10″).

Both the flap and the apron have a lozengy border of dark blue and red cord, while at the top, in the centre of the flap, is a purple silk square with traces of what may have been a triple tau.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1770 (15″×16″).

Both flap and apron have a 3″ border of pale blue ribbon, decorated with dark blue and red cord in a lozengy pattern. At the top, in the centre of the flap, is a square of purple silk, with traces of what may have been a triple tau.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1811 (11″×9½″).

Apron and flap are both edged with a lozengy border of dark blue and red ribbon, and the flap is further decorated with a covering of purple silk, on which is embroidered a triple tau in sequins. Worn by Bro. Henry Frederick Delius, Pilgrim Lodge No. 340 (now No. 238).

Presented by J. C. Robinson, P.M.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1790 (11½×9½″), and Gauntlets.

The apron is similar in all respects to the last described. The gauntlets are of satin edged with the same lozengy border as the apron, and further decorated with a triple tau in gilt sequins on a circular red background. This conforms to the pattern laid down in the Regulations of 1788.

Presented by Henry Sadler, Librarian and Grand Tyler.

Oblong Red Velvet Apron, c. 1795 (13½″×18″).

Elaborated with emblems in gold thread, gilt sequins and black velvet, including an arch with 'Holiness to the Lord.' The flap is completely covered with black velvet, and has the interlaced triangles in gold thread. Both flap and apron are edged with a 1″ gold fringe.

Worn by W.Bro. Benjamin Chennell, of Cambridge.

Presented July 1927.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (22″×21½″).

Hand-painted with two pillars and an arch, enclosing the letter 'G' and the square and compasses, with various emblems round about. It has two 1″ ribbons, one of red and one of dark blue, of which the latter forms an edging to the apron, while the flap is covered with red and edged with dark blue. At the point of the flap can just be seen the remains of 'No. 296,' which was worked in thread. (Possibly Scottish.)

Oblong Satin Apron, 1795 (15″×19″).

Engraved and coloured by Bro. William Newman, 27 Widegate Street, Bishopsgate. The design consists of an arch with the keystone removed, above being an all-seeing eye, the rays from which fall through the aperture upon a Volume of the Sacred Law upon an altar. The supporting pillars are a Corinthian on the dexter side, with an Ionic on the sinister, with figures of Hope and Faith respectively, and behind the Corinthian column is another of the Doric order supporting a group representing Charity. Close to the base of the latter, within the arch, are the Three Kings, and on the other side three Sojourners carrying the pick, crowbar and spade. The apron is further embellished with a rose and rose-leaf border entwined with ribbon, with ovals enclosing emblems, and there are three separate ½″ ribbons, dark blue, pale blue and red, the latter edging the apron and being fringed with pale blue. The flap has the rose border, but not the blue ribbons. (See lower illustration in colour, opposite.)

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1800 (16½″×17″).

Hand-painted with emblems, including two pillars based upon a platform and supporting an arch. On the latter is inscribed, 'In God is oure Trust. Be Just and Fear not.' The flap has an all-seeing eye, and the whole has a ⅜″ painted border of pale blue.

Presented by Albert Ellis, P.A.G.Reg., 3rd August 1926.

Shaped Satin Apron, c. 1800 (19″×19¾″).

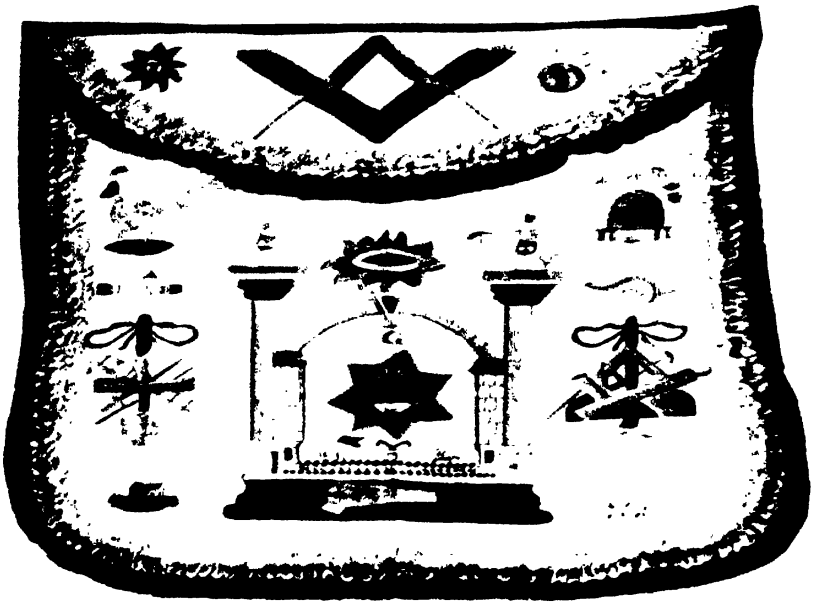
Hand-painted with a large number of emblems, including those of other degrees. The figures are crudely drawn, and those standing upon the pillars and wearing aprons have the inscriptions 'Virtue and Silence' and 'True Freindship' (sic) beneath them. Both flap and apron have a pale blue and a red pleated ribbon, with an outer edging of dark blue. An Antients apron. (See upper illustration in colour, opposite.)

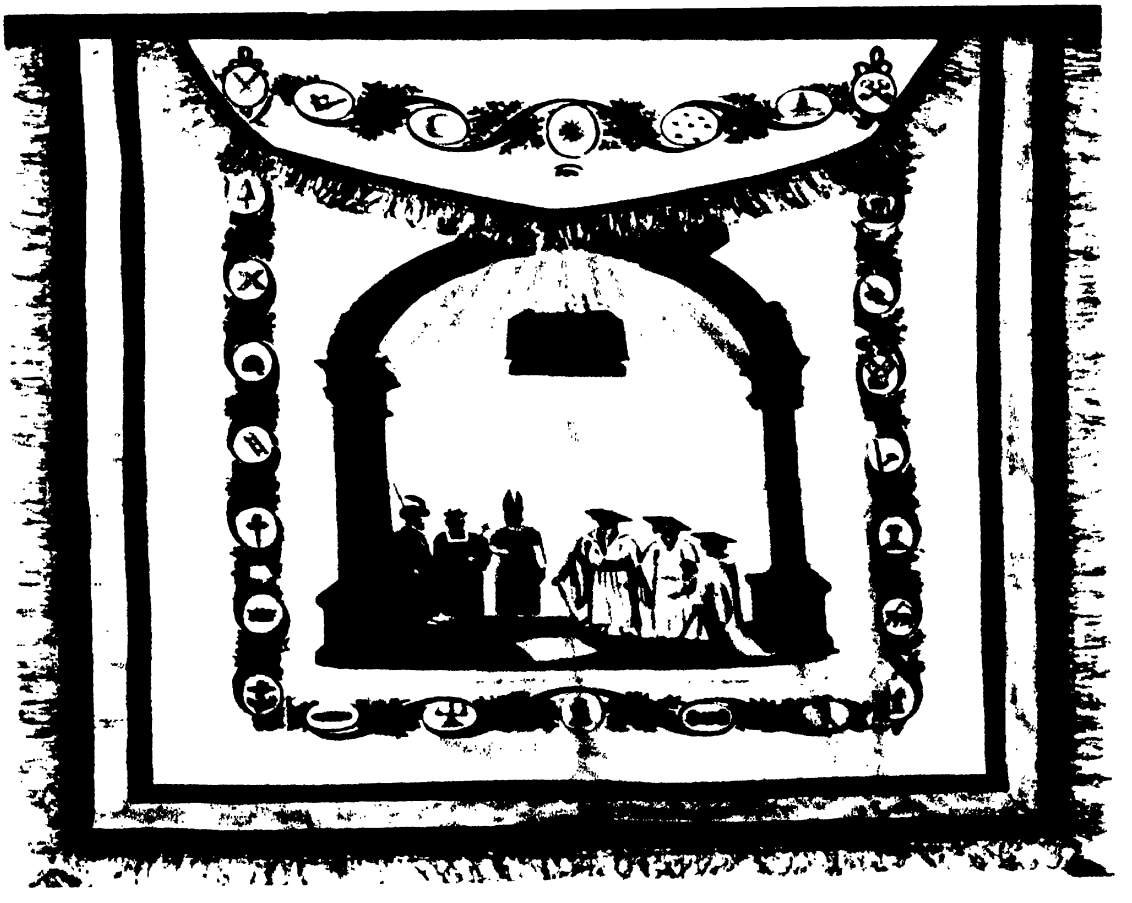
Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1805 (16″×17″).

Hand-painted with emblems in gold and colour in a pattern very reminiscent of Cole's design (for description see page 202), but with the addition of two pillars surmounted by globes and an arch enclosing the Charity group. A ½″ white silk border has almost completely broken away.

The apron of John Crow, Junior, Brazier, of Faversham, co. Kent, initiated in Lodge of Antiquity at Chatham about 1790.

Purchased 1904.





Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1810 (18″×19″).

Hand-painted with emblems in gold and colour, in the centre being an archway with the keystone removed, with the rays from an all-seeing eye directed through the aperture upon an altar. The flap has the Arms of the Moderns, with the motto 'Relief and Truth,' and both flap and apron have a triangular pointed border of black, edged with gold.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1810 (17½″×19¾″).

Hand-painted with emblems in gold and colour, with an arch supported by two Corinthian pillars in the centre enclosing a large number of other emblems, in the foreground being a tessellated pavement, with a five-branched candlestick and a coffin. The flap has the sun, moon and stars in gold, and a ⅜″ dark blue border. The apron itself is edged with a 1⅜″ ribbon of the same colour. (Possibly Scottish.)

Presented by Mrs. Frederick Wingfield, Newcastle, 27th April 1932.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1826 (13½″×17½″).

Printed with the engraved plate of the Minerva Chapter No. 35 (Moderns), Kingston-upon-Hull. The flap has a triple tau upon an oblong piece of dark blue ribbon, and the whole is edged with a 1⅜″ lozengy border of dark blue and red. There are two tassels in the same colours.

Worn by T. Ellors, of Hull (name not in Chapter register), and presented by Thomas E. Bee.

Sash.

This is of modern pattern, save that at the jointing point of the sash, above the fringed ends, there is a rosette instead of the triple tau, which is set in this case higher up. Presented by Mrs. Cable, Hove, Sussex.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1820 (15¾″×13¾″).

Modern pattern, save that the tassels hang more centrally. Worn by Abraham Clarke, of Beccles.

Presented by Sydney R. Clarke, P.P.S.G.D. Middx. (grandson), 17th June 1932.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1824 (15¾″×13¾″), and Gauntlet Gloves.

The apron is of modern pattern. The regalia of a Provincial Grand Officer of Sussex.

Oblong Silk Apron, 1823 (14″×12½″), and Sash.

These are of the pattern laid down in the Regulations of 1823, and are very similar to the design at present in use, save that on the apron there are no tassels.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1850 (14″×13″), and Sash.

Modern pattern. They were worn by Ex. Comp. Joseph Clarke.

Presented by his Trustees, April 1922.

Oblong Satin Apron (16¼″×15¼″).

Of unusual design. In the centre is a large 'Z' in 1½″ pale blue ribbon, surrounded by a ½″ red ribbon border, with another 1½″ pale blue ribbon between it and the edge of the apron. In each corner is a small square of dark blue, and at the centre of each side on the border is a V-shaped decoration in the same colour, with the point towards the centre. There is no flap.

Worn by Ex. Comp. Joseph Clarke, Prov. G. Scribe E, Cheshire.
Presented by O. E. L. France, P.Z. Stayley Chapter No. 1408, December 1935.

This is very elaborately ornamented with emblems in gold thread and sequins as well as with embroidery. Across the top of the flap are worked the words, 'Memento Mori.'

The apron of John Rippon of Exeter. Born 2nd May 1777, died 22nd July 1838, and buried at St. Sidwell's, Exeter. He was initiated in 1804 in Lodge No. 216, held in the First Devon Regiment of Militia, and had a distinguished Masonic career. He was also an Oddfellow, and a Freeman of the City of Exeter, and rode as Blue Knight of the Shire in nine County Elections.

Presented by Mrs. G. Rippon, widow of George P. Rippon, P.M. and Treasurer, Temple Bar Lodge No. 1728, great-grandson of John Rippon of Exeter, 9th December 1937.

Shaped Black Satin Apron, c. 1815 (11″×11″).

Ornamented with emblems in silver, the apron having a triangle with twelve little holes to indicate the disposition of the candles, while on the flap are a cross, emblems of mortality, the cock, and the paschal lamb. It is bound with a narrow pink ribbon. The apron comes from the Madras District, and was presented by Col. H. D. Drake, 25th March 1925.

Square Black Velvet Apron, c. 1820 (15″×15″).

Both flap and apron are edged with a ½″ border of white silk, and there are two narrow fringed tassels of the same material. The flap shows the reverse of the velvet, and is hand-painted with emblems in colour, including emblems of mortality, the cock, and the paschal lamb.

Square Black Velvet Apron, c. 1830 (17″×17″), and Gauntlets.

The apron is decorated in the centre with a triangle in gold thread enclosing emblems of mortality in silver. The flap has a square and compasses in similar thread, and the same material forms a ¼″ border to both the flap and the apron.

The regalia of Chevalier Bernard Hebeler, Past Senior Grand Warden 1839, with trade label of H. Burckhardt, Grand Sub Prior.

Black and White Satin Apron, c. 1840 (13½″×10½″).

The centre both of the apron and the flap is white, but in each case there is a wide black border with a black fringe. On the apron in the centre is a Christian cross in black, while at the point of the flap is a black triangle enclosing emblems of mortality in white bone. There are two black tassels with fringes of silver.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1850 (15½″×14″).

Flap and apron are both edged with a wide border of black, that on the latter being nearly 4″ wide. In the centre of the apron is a Calvary, the figure of The Christ being silver, with a cross of black ribbon. The point of the flap has a silver triangle enclosing emblems of mortality on a background of black. Presented by H. Lehmann, 29th May 1925.

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1850 (15″×13″).

The apron is quite plain and edged with a 1½″ border of red ribbon. The flap has a similar border and the badge of a Preceptor in red, lined with gold thread.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1850 (15¾″×13½″).

The apron is plain, with a 3″ edging of black ribbon, while that on the flap is similar in colour but half the width. At the point of the flap are emblems of mortality embroidered with gold thread upon a black triangular background.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1840 (11″ increasing to 13¾″×11¼″).

The apron and flap are both quite plain, and edged with a 1½″ black ribbon border, with strings of the same material.

Oblong Velvet Apron, c. 1850 (14″×12½″).

The apron and flap are both plain, but have a very decorative border of gold brocade, of which the motif is emblems of mortality with gouttes d'eau. There are two fringed tassels in a similar material.

Black Velvet Belt.

In the centre are silver emblems, including a Calvary, emblems of mortality, the cock and the paschal lamb.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1850 (15¾″×14″), with Belt.

The apron has a 4″ border in black, with a ½″ white stripe in the centre of it, denoting provincial rank. In the centre of the apron is the badge of a Preceptor in red velvet. The belt is decorated in the centre with a metal triangle enclosing emblems of mortality. It is made of black velvet.

Oblong Lambskin Apron, c. 1850 (15¼″×14¾″), with Belt and Gauntlets.

The apron has a 4″ border of black ribbon, and is embroidered in the centre with a Knight's cross in red velvet, and the belt is of black velvet with a metal triangle in the centre, enclosing emblems of mortality. The white satin gauntlets are also edged with black and have a cross in red velvet similar to that on the apron. Fastened to the border is a miniature of the metal emblem as worn on the belt. Worn in Adelaide, South Australia.

Presented by C. T. Good, of Adelaide, 28th October 1926.

Two Oblong Lambskin Aprons, c. 1850, with Belts.

Both are edged with a 4″ black border, with a ½″ centre stripe of white and two ¼″ margins of the same colour, denoting Great Priory rank. In the centre of each apron is a Knight's cross in red velvet. The black velvet belts have in the centre a metal triangle enclosing emblems of mortality.

Pair of Gauntlets, c. 1860.

These are of black satin edged with gold embroidery, and bearing crossed batons in gold thread, with the words 'Great Priory,' showing that they were part of the regalia of a Great Marshal.

Oblong Satin Apron (14½″×13″).

This has a 2″ border of black ribbon, with a ¾″ centre band of gold embroidery, and is fringed with gold. In addition there are two gold fringed tassels, and below them two black rosettes with gold centres, whilst between these, in the centre of the apron, is a Preceptor's cross in red. The flap has an identical border and fringe, and bears a metal triangle enclosing emblems of mortality in silver gilt. The general design approximates that of a modern Craft apron.

Royal Order of Scotland.

Shaped Lambskin apron (13″ increasing to 16″×14″) with Garter, Two Collars and Three Jewels.

The apron is edged with a 2¼″ border of three colours, composed of an inner and outer 1″ band of dark green and red respectively, with a narrow centre stripe of white. The large triangular flap is covered with red silk and fringed with dark green, the point terminating in a long tassel of those colours. The apron strings are finished in a similar way. The garter is green, with motto 'Virtute et Silentio' and edging in gold, whilst the collars are dark green and red respectively, each with a distinctive badge. There is also a metal and enamel breast badge. (For descriptions, see

Grand Imperial Council, Knights of Rome and Red Cross of Constantine.

Oblong Satin Apron (16″×14¼″) and Sash.

The apron has a 1¾″ red border fringed with gold, and is embroidered in the centre with the badge of the degree. The flap has a narrower border of the same colour, and a circle with the word 'Almoner', above it being a red triangle embroidered with gold thread enclosing the letter 'N' in dark green. The sash is red edged with gold brocade, and has a green silk square with a triangular badge similar to that on the point of the flap, together with the representation of a purse. Presented by M. V. Leveaux, P.A.G.D.C., January 1930.

Oblong Black Velvet Apron, c. 1820 (18″×20″).

This is elaborately embroidered with a large number of emblems of various degrees in coloured silks, silver, gold thread, etc., in the centre being an arch supported by two pillars based upon a tessellated pavement, between them being an altar with three candles. The apron has a narrow border of pale blue silk, while the flap is covered with that material and edged with an inner border of 1¼″ gold brocade and an outer pleated ribbon of the same width in pink silk. (Possibly Irish.)

Formerly the property of Bro. John Lee of Hartwell, co. Buckingham, J.P., D.L., LL.D.; born 28th May 1783; died 1866.

Presented by Mrs. Benedict Eyre of Hartwell, December 1935.

Oblong Black Velvet Apron, c. 1820 (17¾″×21¼″).

Of identical pattern to the above, varying only in the materials used for the decoration, which are mainly bone, metal and mother-o'-pearl.

The apron was also the property of Bro. John Lee of Hartwell, and was likewise presented by Mrs. Benedict Eyre in December 1935.

Oblong Lambskin Apron (15¼″×12¼″).

An Entered Apprentice's apron, being quite plain save for a ½″ edging of faded pale blue ribbon. The flap is treated in the same way.

Oblong Lambskin Apron (15″×12¼″).

Similar in design to the above, but a Master Mason's apron, with the three rosettes and fringed tassels. Between the rosettes on the apron is an embroidered square and compasses, while on the flap is the number of the Lodge, 171 (Duke of Clarence), also in embroidery, though the seven has become detached and lost. Presented December 1924.

Oblong White Cloth Apron (15¾″×13¾″) with Sash and Certificate.

This has an inner ⅝″ band of gold brocade and an outer band of the same material edged with a gold fringe. The flap has a similar edging and fringe, while the sash also has the gold edging.

The Certificate is that issued by the Grand Lodge of Indiana to its Representative near the Grand Lodge of Ireland, Bro. Dr. Joseph Graham Burne, to whom the regalia also belonged. It is dated 9th April 1888.

Presented by A. H. Burne, 4th February 1924.

Oblong Satin Apron (14″×12″).

Decorated with an inner ¾″ band of gold brocade, joined to the edge of the apron by a pale blue border edged with gold fringe. The flap is treated in the same way. The sash is pale blue, and is also edged with gold brocade. Provincial Grand Lodge regalia.

Oblong Satin Apron (14″×12″).

The apron is engraved in the centre with the Prince of Wales' Feathers. There are two silver-fringed tassels, and the apron is edged with a $\frac{3}{4}$″ border of pale blue. On the flap is engraved a square and compasses, and it is decorated with the same ribbon border.

Oblong Satin Apron

It has an inner $\frac{1}{2}$″ border of gold brocade, between which and the edge of the apron is a 2″ border of pale blue, edged with a gold fringe. There are two tassels, also fringed with gold. The flap is treated in the same way, save that the blue border is narrower. It is embroidered with the letters 'G.M.L.' (Grand Master's Lodge), formed in 1749.

Shaped Satin Apron, 1833 (16½″ increasing to 18″×15½″).

A Royal Arch apron, hand-painted and embroidered with emblems, including an arch in the centre in red velvet, supported by two pillars of the same material enriched with gold braid. Immediately beneath the keystone is an all-seeing eye, below that being the letter 'G', the Volume of the Sacred Law, and the interlaced triangles. There are various other emblems round about, and the apron is edged with a triple border of red, dark blue and light blue ribbon. The flap has a similar border, and the square and compasses in gold braid. Worn by Bro. Dalbiac. (Possibly Irish.) (See illustration, page 193.)

Oblong Cloth Apron (15¾″×13¾) and Sash.

Quite plain, save for a 1½″ border of red ribbon. The flap has a narrower border of the same colour, and bears in red the words 'Royal Arch Chapter 171.' The sash is red, and also plain.

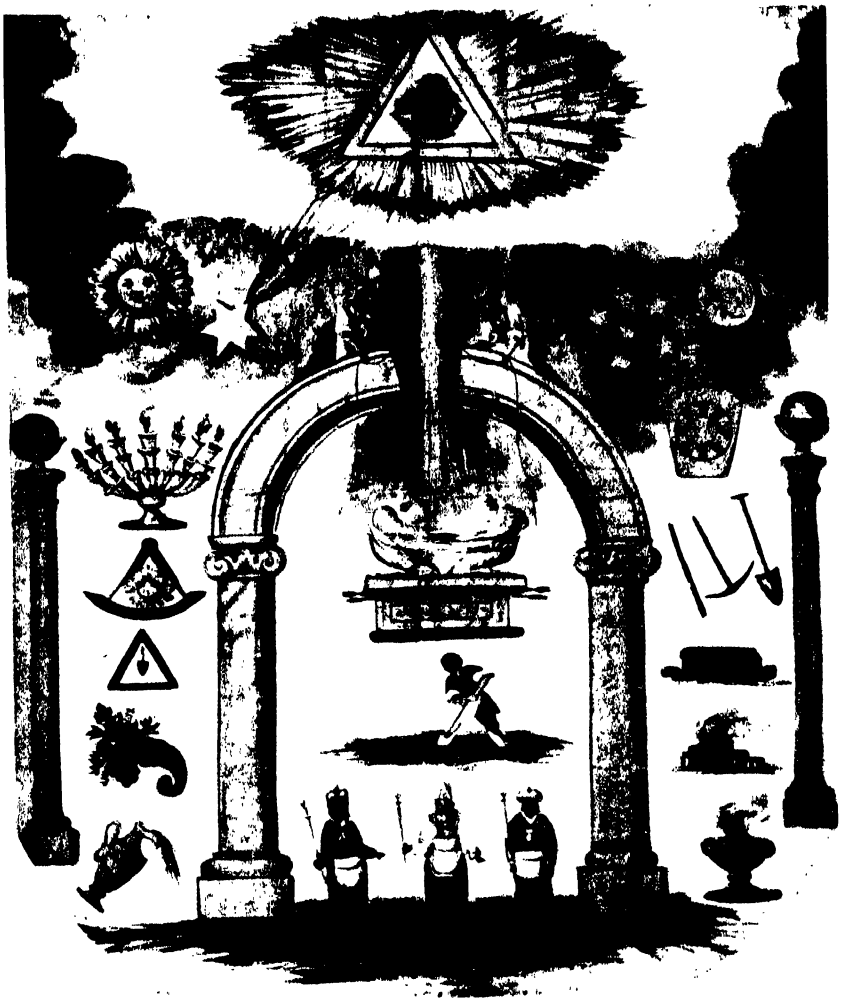
Presented December 1924.

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1800 (19½″×23″).

A Royal Arch apron, hand-painted with emblems of various degrees. In the centre is a painted device with inscription, 'Col. Hered. Metrop. Hib. 1314.' The apron is edged with a 1″ band of gold brocade, while at the sides is an additional band of red ribbon, decorated with red and black beads. The flap is black and hand-painted with emblems, including an all-seeing eye, emblems of mortality, and the sun, moon and stars.

Satin Apron, c. 1785 (14″×15¼″).

A Royal Arch apron, hand-painted with emblems in colour. It is edged with a $\frac{5}{8}$″ blue ribbon, and has no flap. In chief is an all-seeing eye, and below it an arch with the keystone removed, the rays from the eye falling through the aperture upon an Ark. In base are the figures of the Three Kings, and there are various other emblems round about. (See illustration in colour, opposite.)



Oblong Lambskin Apron, 1810 (13½″×15″).

A Royal Arch apron with an engraved design of various emblems, including an arch in the centre, based upon a platform, with figures of Charity on the dexter, and Faith and Hope on the sinister sides respectively. There is a triple border of pale blue, dark blue and red ribbon. The flap is treated in the same way, and engraved with an all-seeing eye and the square and compasses.

'Engraved and sold by W. F. Graham, Dublin.'

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1820 (15″×16″).

Hand-painted with various emblems for use in all degrees, and edged with a narrow band of pink ribbon. The flap has a similar border and is also painted with emblems.

Aprons—Netherlands

Oblong Satin Apron (15″×14″).

Quite plain and edged with dark blue. The flap is covered with dark blue silk and decorated with a device in gold sequins on a circle of green silk, while both flap and apron have a gold fringe.

A Past Master's apron of Lodge St. Jan, Malmesbury, South Africa.

Presented by O. H. Bate, 5th October 1918.

Shaped Satin Apron (16½″×15″).

Of similar design to the last described, save that the flap is similar to the apron and not covered with silk. The latter is decorated in base with an embroidered pattern of emblems.

A Past Master's apron of Lodge De Goede Hoop, No. 12, N.C., Capetown. Presented by O. H. Bate, 5th October 1918.

Shaped Cloth Apron (12″×12″) and Collar.

Edged with blue ribbon and decorated with gold stars embroidered in sequins and thread. The flap has a similar edging, and is embroidered with a square and compasses, while both apron and flap have a wide gold fringe. The collar is blue and also ornamented with gold thread.

Apron of P.Prov.G.M. (South Africa).

Presented by O. H. Bate, 5th October 1918.

Shaped Satin Apron (12″×12″) and Certificate.

This is similar in shape to the apron last described, but the edging is green instead of blue. It is also decorated with stars and has a large square and compasses, based upon a sector, embroidered in gold. The flap has a triangle of sequins enclosing an all-seeing eye.

The property of Bro. Eleazer Wolff of Morgenster Lodge, Kronstad, in whose name the certificate, dated 1875, is made out.

Presented by Mrs. Eleazer Wolff, 30th January 1894.

Two Shaped Satin Aprons (16″×13″, and 17″×12½″).

These are of French style, inasmuch as they are elaborately decorated with emblems and floral ornamentation in coloured silk embroidery and sequins. They are both decorated with green silk edging, and one of them has a gold fringe. Presented by Col. George Lambert, February 1896.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (14″×12″).

Plain save for a 1¼″ border of red silk decorated with gold thread and sequins, the flap being covered with red silk and ornamented in the same way. Both flap and apron have a gold fringe.

This apron is reversible, the reverse being identical, save that the colour of the silk used is green.

Shaped Satin Apron (14″×12″).

Flap and apron are both decorated with a wide gold fringe, and the apron is embroidered in the centre with an emblematical pattern beneath which is a scroll with 'Régularité,' the name of the Lodge.

Presented by F. Pinfold, 25th June 1917.

Shaped Satin Apron (13″×12½″).

The apron is edged with a ½″ band of red ribbon and embroidered with emblems in gold thread, including a large square and compasses in the centre. The flap is similarly edged and has a triangle enclosing an all-seeing eye in sequins, while both flap and apron have a wide gold fringe.

Shaped Satin Apron (15″×13″).

It has a ¾″ red silk border with a silver edging and fringe, and a square and compasses in silver thread. The flap is edged in the same way.

This apron is reversible, the reverse being all black, with emblems of mortality and gouttes d'eau in silver thread.

Shaped Satin Apron (13½″×10¼″).

Almost semicircular in shape. The flap and apron are both decorated with a lozengy border in green and white, while the latter has a green square and compasses sewn in the centre.

A Master Mason's apron. Presented by Col. George Lambert, 1897.

Oblong Satin Apron (15¼″×14½″).

The apron is ornamented with emblems in gold thread and sequins and edged with pale blue pleated ribbon, the flap being treated with the same border and decorated with an all-seeing eye.

A Master Mason's apron. Presented by Col. George Lambert, 1897.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (14″×12″).

Painted with a black edging and an inner band of the same colour, together with emblems of mortality in the centre. The flap has a similar edging and a sword pointing downwards.

Shaped Black Satin Apron (16¼″×13½″).

Decorated with a 1¼″ cream silk ribbon and wide silver fringe, and ornamented in the centre with emblems of mortality and gouttes d'eau in silver thread. The flap is cream in colour, edged with black and highly decorated with sequins and silver thread.

Shaped Satin Apron (14″×13″).

Apron and flap are both white, edged with a black lozengy border. The apron is further decorated with hand-painted emblems of mortality in black, with gouttes d'eau round about. (See upper illustration, page 230.)

Shaped Black Satin Apron (13″×13″).

Both flap and apron are edged with a ¾″ white silk ribbon and have a wide silver fringe, while the apron is decorated with emblems of mortality and gouttes d'eau together with other emblems, all in silver thread with leaf embellishment.

Shaped Silk Apron (12¾″×11″).

This is divided vertically into a centre portion of white about 6½″ in width, the remaining sections on either side being black. The centre is hand-painted with emblems of mortality in black. The flap is all white, edged with a narrow band of black and painted with gouttes d'eau.

Presented by Col. George Lambert, 1897.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (14″×12¾″).

Decorated with a lozengy border of black, embellished with leaf pattern and green silk and a wide silver fringe. In the centre, within a circle of linked hearts, is a hand grasping a sword, all in embroidery, while the flap bears the letters 'N.N.M.'

Presented by Col. George Lambert, 1897.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (13″×10¾″).

Plain, and edged with a narrow green ribbon with an inner and slightly wider band of the same colour, the flap being treated in the same way. The apron is reversible, the reverse being all black, decorated only with a band of cream-coloured silk.

Lodge La Paix, Amsterdam; apron of Bro. E. Hamburger.

Presented by his nephew, J. H. Jacobs, Tredegar Lodge No. 1625, 6th January 1931.

Oblong Satin Apron (16″×12″) and Sash.

The apron has a gold fringe, with an inner border of pale blue, the flap being treated in the same way, save that the remainder of it is red. The sash is blue in colour.

Shaped Canvas Apron (15″×12¼″) and Collar.

Both the apron and flap have a ¾″ orange silk border, but are otherwise quite plain. The collar is also orange in colour.

Lodge Willem van Oranje, founded by British subjects interned in Holland during the Great War, now transferred to the United Grand Lodge of England as No. 3976, London.

Presented by Col. J. H. C. Gibbs, C.B., P.G.D., 1st W.M., 16th September 1919.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (17¼″×14″).

Plain, with 1½″ yellow silk border, the flap being completely covered with that material.

Shaped Satin Apron (15″×13″) and Sash.

Decorated with silver brocade edging, with an inner band of red ribbon. In the centre is a square and compasses in silver thread and sequins. The flap has a similar border, the remaining portion of it being dark blue. The sash is half blue and half red.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (13½″×8½″).

This has a very bright red fringe but is otherwise plain. The flap has a similar border, but the remainder of it is dark blue, with a long gold fringe.

Shaped Satin Apron (15¾″×11″).

Plain, with a white fringe and an inner border of red silk both on the flap and the apron.

Shaped Satin Apron (14″×13″).

Decorated in the centre with emblems of mortality in silver thread, with leaf pattern and gouttes d'eau and various other emblems. Both the flap and apron have a silver fringe. (See upper illustration, opposite.)

Oblong Satin Apron, c. 1830 (14″×10″).

Yellow in colour and quite unadorned.

Presented by Col. H. D. Drake, Lodge of Antiquity No. 2, 25th March 1925.

Shaped Satin Apron (13¾″×16″).

Embroidered with an elaborate emblematical pattern in blue and red velvet, gold thread and sequins, and edged with a pleated blue border. The flap is similarly edged, and embroidered with a crown.

Shaped Black Cloth Apron (14½″×12″).

Embroidered in the centre with a double-headed eagle, with gouttes d'eau on either side, all in silver thread. The flap has emblems of mortality.

Apron of the 30th Degree.

Shaped Satin Apron (14″×14½″).

Hand-painted and embroidered in the centre with an emblematical device, and edged with a gold fringe. The flap is also painted and embroidered with a device which includes the double-headed eagle.

France

The predominating characteristic of the French aprons is the elaborate use of sequins, gold and silver thread and coloured silks in the various designs with which they are embroidered. In the following collection, particularly among the Rose Croix aprons, these designs are far more intricate than in their English prototypes. The pattern generally includes, beside the rosy cross with or without the pelican in piety, a crown of thorns and a serpent with its tail in its mouth, enclosing within the circle so formed a chalice, together with some kind of rose and leaf pattern either in silk or thread, though occasionally the emblems are more numerous and include those of other degrees. The flaps, unless otherwise stated, are all embroidered with an equilateral triangle enclosing certain Hebrew characters.

Shaped Satin Apron, c. 1790

Edged with a narrow dark green ribbon and decorated in gold sequins and coloured silks with emblems of the Order of Knights of Babylon.

Shaped Satin Apron (18″×16″).

This has a border of red silk and gold braid, and is elaborately decorated with sequins, gold thread and coloured silk with emblems of the Order of Knights of Babylon.

Collection of four Rose Croix Aprons.

These are all in satin, three of them being shaped and one oblong. They are all edged with red ribbon, the flaps being false and indicated merely by a ribbon of the same colour. The aprons themselves are very elaborately embroidered with emblems of the Degree in gold sequins, coloured silks and gold thread, though the patterns in each case are somewhat varied. Two of them have the usual cross with the pelican in piety at the base, while the other two have a single cross and a large and two small crosses respectively.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron (14½″×13″) and Collar.

The apron is similar to those just described, though the actual pattern varies in some details, notably in having a large cross in the centre with a pelican in piety with the addition of a small cross on either side. The collar is red and highly decorated with a pattern in sequins, including the rosy cross and pelican, and is lined with black. (See lower illustration, opposite.) Presented by Paul Storr, P.A.G.D.C.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron (15″×14½″) and Collar.

This is similar in style to the above, save that the pattern includes a single cross only, with the pelican in piety. The collar is identical to the last described. Presented by Kenning & Son, 6th October 1925.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron (13″×12½″) and Collar.

The apron is identical in design to the last described, and the collar, though varying in several small details, is very similar.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron (15″×14″) and Collar.

The apron conforms to the standard pattern already described, but has a large single cross in the centre without the pelican. The collar is red and quite plain save for a cross in gold sequins and black velvet at the point.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron (12½″×12″).

Edged with a narrow band of red ribbon and decorated with hand-painted engraved emblems, in the centre being a pair of compasses based upon a sector enclosing a cross with the pelican in piety, with other emblems on either side linked and suspended by a painted ribbon. The flap is a real one, but the irradiated triangle is replaced by another hand-painted device.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron (13½″×13½″).

Highly decorated with coloured silks and gold sequins, and fringed with gold. In the centre are the three interlaced triangles enclosing a rosy cross, with five-pointed stars round about. The flap is a real one, fringed with gold, covered with red silk, and embroidered in sequins with a decorative pattern instead of the irradiated triangle.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron, c. 1790 (13½″×12″).

Edged with a narrow band of red and decorated with hand-painted emblems, including a pair of compasses, surmounted by a rose and a crown, based upon a sector and enclosing a cross with the pelican in piety. Amongst the emblems on either side are a woman's head and a Mops, or Pug Dog. (See page 12.) The flap is hand-painted with a shield enclosing the monogram 'GB'.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron, c. 1790 (13″×11½″).

This is of the standard pattern as already described, and is decorated with a single cross without the pelican.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron, c. 1890 (16½″×14″), and Collar.

Almost semicircular in shape and better finished than the earlier ones, though the pattern is similar. The collar is red, edged with gold, and is rather unusual in being decorated with wheat and olive emblems.

Presented by H. T. Lamb & Co.

Oblong Satin Rose Croix Apron (16″×14″) and Collar.

This is similar in design to a modern Master Mason's apron as worn in the English Constitution, save that the 2″ border is red and there are no rosettes. In the centre is embroidered a single cross without the pelican. The flap has a similar edging and is decorated with an irradiated triangle enclosing the letter 'E'. The collar is red with a border of sequins, and has a black rosette at the point.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (15½″×12″).

Edged with a narrow band of red and hand-painted with emblems in a rather unusual design. In the centre is a rosy cross with the pelican imposed upon a pair of compasses based upon a sector, beneath it being a tessellated pavement with a coffin and pillars 'J' and 'B' on either side. The flap is edged with black and has a six-pointed star enclosing the letter 'G'. Rose Collection, 1921.

Shaped Satin Apron (14½″×14½″).

Edged with a narrow red border and embroidered in gold thread, gold sequins and coloured silk with a pair of compasses based upon a sector, enclosing a rosy cross and a pelican in piety.

Shaped Lambskin Rose Croix Apron (14″×12″).

Almost semicircular in shape and elaborately hand-painted with emblems of various Degrees besides that of Rose Croix, the cross and pelican badge of which is displayed in the centre. The apron has a fivefold painted border of red, purple, green, brown and blue. The flap is also highly decorated with emblems, from which, however, the irradiated triangle is omitted, and edged with a single painted border of red.

Shaped Lambskin Rose Croix Apron (15″×14″).

Edged with a narrow border of red silk and hand-painted with a large and intricate pattern of emblems of various Degrees, the cross and pelican, however, being given a prominent place in the centre. The flap is likewise painted with emblems and includes the double-headed eagle.

Two Satin Rose Croix Aprons, c. 1790 (approx. 12″×12″).

One of these is shaped and the other square, but both are edged with red ribbon and embroidered in gold sequins and coloured silks with a pattern introducing the cross and pelican of the Degree. The flap on the former apron has a crown of thorns instead of the irradiated triangle.

Shaped Satin Rose Croix Apron (15½″×15″) and Collar.

These are of the standard pattern as already described and were worn by Henry, 5th Duke of Newcastle, K.G., Prov. Grand Master, Notts, 1860-5. Purchased 8th June 1937.

Oblong Satin Rose Croix Apron, c. 1880 (16″×15″), and Collar.

Edged with a 1½″ magenta border lined with gold braid both on the apron and the flap. The design is a simple one, the cross and pelican being prominently displayed in the centre, and bearing the cypher 'Pax Vobis'. The collar is likewise of magenta lined with gold braid, decorated with a simple cross at the point and with a simple leaf design.

Presented by Kenning & Son, 14th March 1923.

France—Contd.

The eleven aprons following are all those of Master Masons. In general design they are all very similar, though the patterns with which they are embroidered have small variations. They are elaborately decorated with sequins, thread and coloured silks, and are all embroidered on the point of the flap with an irradiated pentalpha enclosing the letter 'G'. The flap and apron is edged in each case with a border of pale blue ribbon.

Shaped Satin Apron (16″×15½″) and Collar.

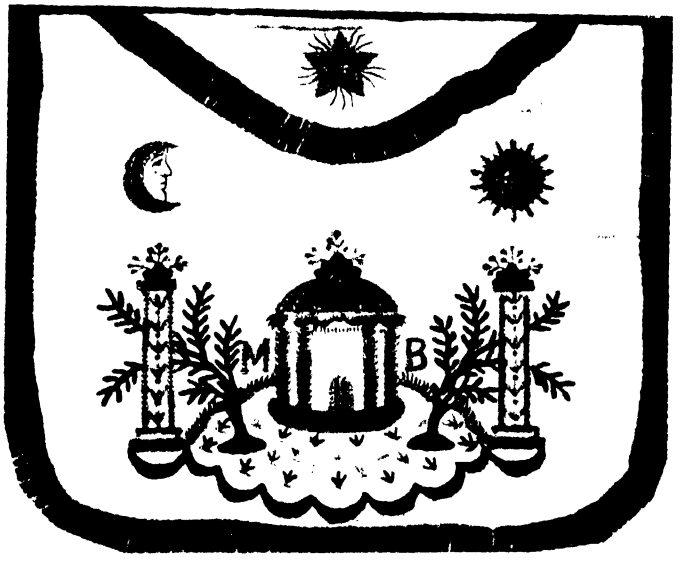
The apron is elaborately decorated with an embroidered pattern representing a temple, with a tessellated pavement and pillars 'J' and 'B' in front, the dome being surmounted with an irradiated triangle enclosing an all-seeing eye. On either side are the sun and moon respectively, and beneath them other emblems tied by a ribbon. The sash is pale blue and embroidered with a sun in splendour, the square and compasses and leaf ornamentation. Presented by S. D. Woods, L.R., 18th March 1925.

Shaped Satin Apron, c. 1800

The pattern is a simple one and consists of a temple with letters 'M' and 'B' and pillars on either side, above which are the sun and moon respectively. It is further decorated with acacia leaves, etc., in coloured silk. (See illustration in colour, opposite.)

Shaped Satin Apron, c. 1800 (15″×13½″).

The arrangement of the pattern on this apron is very similar to that of the last described, though it is much more elaborate.



M

Shaped Satin Apron (12″×10″).

The flap and apron are both fringed with gold, and the latter is embroidered with a temple enclosed within a wreath of acacia, whilst above are a pair of compasses and a plumb-rule.

Presented by H. A. Darch, P.G.St.Br., 1st November 1934.

Shaped Satin Apron (12″×10″).

Of similar pattern to the last described, save that there is no fringe.

Shaped Satin Apron (14½″×12″).

Decorated with a square and compasses enclosing an irradiated triangle containing Hebrew characters, all in gold thread and sequins, with a simple acacia leaf ornamentation.

Presented by the Earl of Donoughmore, K.P., P.C., 11th February 1938.

Shaped Satin Apron (13½″×11½″).

Embroidered in the centre with the square and compasses enclosing the letter 'M'. On either side are the letters 'J' and 'B', above them being various other emblems.

Shaped Satin Apron (13¾″×12½″).

Decorated in the centre with an embroidered square and compasses enclosing the mallet and trowel, with acacia pattern and pillars on either side.

The apron of Philip de la Mare, initiated in 1813 in the Farmers' Lodge, now the Yarborough Lodge No. 244, Jersey.

Presented by Philip de la Mare, P.M. Duke of Normandy Lodge No. 245, Jersey.

Shaped Satin Apron (14½″×12″).

This has the square and compasses in the centre enclosing the letter 'M', with pillars on either side, the whole being adorned with an acacia leaf pattern. Above the pillars are the sun and moon respectively.

Shaped Satin Apron (13″×11″).

Decorated with a temple and the letter 'M', with 'J' and 'B' on either side, and ornamented with a simple acacia leaf pattern. On either side at the top are the sun and moon respectively.

Shaped Satin Apron (14½″×12½″), Sash and Jewel.

This is similar to the last described in design, save that the temple is more elaborate and has a square and compasses in the centre of it, with other emblems in the foreground. The sash is pale blue and ornamented with a single white rosette, while the jewel is of silver gilt, oval in shape (2″× 1½″), with a raised pattern and monogram 'LL'.

The four aprons following are similar in general design to the last described, but are Masters' aprons, edged with a red border instead of the pale blue of the Master Masons.

Two Shaped Satin Aprons (13″×11½″).

Embroidered in the centre with a temple, above which is the square and compasses enclosing the letter 'M'. On either side are pillars adorned with an acacia leaf pattern.

One of them is from the Rose Collection, 1921.

Shaped Satin Apron (12½″×12½″).

Decorated with an embroidered landscape pattern in coloured silk and thread, including a palm tree on either side with emblems and letters 'J' and 'B', above which are the sun and moon respectively. In the centre is an elaborately irradiated triangle enclosing Hebrew characters.

Presented by W. Vernon Pearson, 10th November 1925.

Shaped Satin Apron (14″×12″).

Embroidered in the centre with a square and compasses enclosing the irradiated triangle, containing Hebrew characters. On either side are pillars 'J' and 'B', the whole being adorned with an acacia leaf pattern.

Shaped Satin Apron (12″×12″).

Apron of the 9th Degree, Elect of Nine, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, edged with black and with emblems of mortality at the point of the flap. In the centre of the apron is a decorated ring of flames enclosing a dagger, while above on either side are further emblems of mortality.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (16″×14″).

Edged with a narrow border of red and hand-painted with emblems of various Degrees, including a temple in the foreground with pillars 'J' and 'B' on either side.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (14″×12″).

Edged with a narrow red ribbon and hand-painted with various Masonic emblems, in the centre being a temple with ornamental acacia leaf. In each of the lower corners of the apron is a small pink rosette, while a third is to be found at the point of the flap.

Shaped Satin Apron (17½″×14″).

The design includes a pair of compasses with the points extended upon the bases of two pillars 'J' and 'B', the whole standing upon a tessellated pavement. In the centre at the top are three interlaced triangles enclosing a sun in splendour, while the flap is also painted with a design of Masonic significance.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1785 (12¾″×9⅞″).

Edged with pale blue and hand-painted with emblems in colour. The landscape design includes a temple and pyramid, with rocks and a plant of acacia, in the centre being an altar, above which is an irradiated triangle. A painted triangle on the flap encloses the word 'Sagesse', while similar triangles at the top of the apron have 'Force' and 'Beauté'.

The apron of the Comte de Chavannes, Auvergne.

Purchased 20th July 1936.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (12″×12″).

Edged with a narrow band of blue and hand-painted with a design representing a temple with a tessellated pavement in front and pillars 'J' and 'B', with various other emblems above and on either side. The flap is missing.

Shaped Lambskin Apron (14½″×12″).

Formerly edged with pale blue and hand-painted with various emblems, including the square and compasses in the centre imposed upon a Volume of the Sacred Law, beneath which is a coffin with emblems of mortality, based upon a platform with seven steps and pillars 'J' and 'B' on either side. There are other emblems above and on either side, the point of the flap having an irradiated pentalpha enclosing the letter 'G'.

Shaped Lambskin Rose Croix Apron, c. 1790 (12½″×12″).

Edged with a narrow red border and decorated with an elaborately coloured engraving, in the centre being a rosy cross based upon a platform with seven steps and with the pelican in piety. At the foot of the platform are figures of Faith, Hope and Charity, while on the dexter side stands a knight in armour. Above him, in the top of the apron, is the sun in splendour. On the sinister side is a broken column with the moon above it in the top corner, and there are various other emblems in the foreground. The flap has the irradiated triangle enclosing certain Hebrew characters.

Shaped Satin Apron (13″×11″) and Silver Centenary Jewel.

Edged with a narrow band of red ribbon and embroidered in the centre with a square and compasses enclosing the irradiated triangle, with other emblems round about. The apron is further adorned with acacia and a floral border.

Apron of a French Lodge in Mauritius, worn by Theodore Edward Hook (1788-1841), celebrated Novelist and Wit, and Accountant-General of Mauritius. In a letter dated 1814 Hook, writing from Mauritius to the celebrated Actor, Charles Mathews, stated that he had been to the Lodge there. (See next item.)

The jewel is that of the Lodge referred to above, namely 'La Triple Espérance,' Mauritius, founded 25th December 1778.

It was presented by W. L. Rind, Burton Court Lodge No. 3864, 11th December 1925.

English Master Mason's Apron of the Actor, Charles Mathews.

This is of standard pattern, save that the border is half dark and half light blue, by special sanction of George, Prince of Wales (George IV). Charles Mathews (1776-1835) was initiated in the Prince of Wales Lodge on 17th June 1808. (See preceding item.)

Presented by W. E. Chapman, 22nd October 1895.

Shaped Satin Apron of Supreme Grand Council (14¾″×13″) and Seal.

Embroidered in gold thread with the square and compasses in the centre enclosing the letter 'M', and highly decorated with acacia, while above on either side are other emblems. The flap has the customary irradiated pentalpha. Presented by Miss Phillpot, 29th December 1933.

Shaped Lambskin Apron, c. 1796 (11¾″×11¾″), said to be that of Napoleon Bonaparte.

This is elaborately decorated with a coloured engraving. Beneath a pair of compasses with the points extended upon the bases of two pillars 'J' and 'B', is a circular temple with a platform of seven steps, the whole based upon a tessellated pavement, with other emblems in the foreground. At the top in the centre is an additional decoration in the form of acacia, with the sun and moon on dexter and sinister sides respectively. The flap has a serpent with its tail in its mouth enclosing a pentalpha with the letter 'G', and is further decorated with a floral pattern. Beneath the flap is the inscription: 'Déposé à la Bibliothèque Nationale à Paris chez Guerin, Brodeur, Rue de Cléry, No. 281.'

A signed testimony, dated 20th February 1917, reads as follows: 'The apron originally belonged to my Grandfather, I. Perrot, Vihiers, France, and to my Father, Alec Perrot, Montreuil-Bellay, France. It was given by Napoleon Bonaparte to my Grandfather in 1796, when he was one of his officers.—C. F. Perrot.' (See upper illustration in colour, opposite.)

Presented by A. C. V. Gibson, P.M. Royal Crown Lodge No. 3133, September 1921.

Shaped Satin Apron (13″×13″) of Joachim Murat, King of Naples and Sicily, Brother-in-Law of Napoleon I.

Edged with pale blue and delicately hand-painted with emblems. Within a panoply is a square and compasses enclosing the letter 'M', with 'J' and 'B' on the dexter and sinister sides respectively, while beneath are two decorative sprigs of acacia, tied with a red ribbon. The flap is painted with a hive and certain cryptic characters.

The first apron of Joachim Murat, King of Naples and Sicily and Grand Master of Naples, Marshal and Great Admiral of France; born 25th March 1771; executed 13th October 1815. (See lower illustration in colour, opposite.)

* Jewel prepared under a misapprehension, but not approved by Grand Lodge. 'It shows the Ten Commandments, a fancy picture of Mount Sinai, the Arms of Penzance, the Head of St. John, and date 1614 of the Borough Charter. Penzance is said to mean Holy Head, and the Mother Church was in the patronage of St. John of Jerusalem until the Reformation.'—Jennings. The Lodge dates from 1813 only.

† Now No. 2, Nova Scotia. (Erased 1st September 1869.)

* Correspondence Circle ; member's jewel.

† Member's jewel of Lodge ' St. Olaus til den hvide Leopard,' Norway, presented to United Northern Counties Lodge by visitors from that Constitution ' in memory of a very beautiful and enjoyable evening . . . on 21st February 1933,' and presented by them to the Grand Lodge Museum, 30th March 1933. Lodge ' St. Olaus ' is the oldest in Norway, and dates from 1749.

‡ Founded as a memorial of the bicentenary of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, 1885.

§ This Lodge was named after the Hon. Robert Boyle Walsingham (son of 1st Earl of Shannon), born 1736 ; Commodore Royal Navy ; 1st Prov. Grand Master of Kent ; lost with all hands on board his ship, H.M.S. Thunderer, 74 guns, in the West Indies in 1780, while in command of a squadron sent to reinforce Admiral Sir George Rodney.

* Souvenir presented to distinguished visitors by the Lodge at the Annual Festival of Anglo-Foreign Lodges, 17th April 1912. The design symbolises Masonry advancing rapidly and surely towards Light and Peace, lighting the way with the Torch of Truth and scattering the seed of Universal Brotherhood.

Arms of Solihull School, attended by the Poet, William Shenstone (1714-63).
Design taken from the seal of Gervase Paganel, who founded Dudley Priory in 1161.
Design represents Sisyphus, condemned in the Underworld continually to roll a stone up a hill.

Recent Acquisitions

Acquired as the Volume was going to press.

Seven Jewels presented by C. D. Rotch, Lodge of Antiquity No. 2, 18th May 1938.

Gold-pierced Jewel.

Maker, Thomas Harper, London, 1814. Designed as a square and compasses, within a plain border engraved with foliage and inscribed on the one side 'Bristol,' on the other 'William Henry Goldwyer, Esq., Provl. Grand Master,' 3″.

Enamel Jewel of Oval Shape.

Painted with a male standing figure in red and yellow draperies, holding a square and level; behind him are two columns, one of them decorated with a flowered garland, at his feet being the initials 'S.W.'; chased gold frame, inside a frame set with pastes radiating outwards, 18th century, 5″.

Gold and Enamel Senior Warden's Jewel.

Of oval form surmounted by a crown; one side is engraved and enamelled in red and blue, with a group of Masonic emblems backed by an irradiated gold star, within a border inscribed 'Friendship and Benevolence'; the reverse is inscribed 'Royal Lodge to Chs. Freeman, Esq., past Master 1790,' within an enamelled border of eight clasped hands, 2″.

Enamel Jewel.

Painted with a seated figure of Britannia holding a cornucopia; she is surrounded by a lion, thistle, rose and shamrock, and above her is the all-seeing eye; contained in a paste frame of rayed design, 18th century, 6″.

Enamel Miniature, Circular.

Painted en grisaille and sepia with draped figures in a pastoral setting; on the left a youth leans against the base of a column bearing the initial 'G' and rests on it a book inscribed 'Lodge of Prudence, no. 75'; on the right is a lady with an elephant; they are standing on a tessellated pavement and behind them is a beehive. The whole is contained in a frame set with fine quality pastes, and the back is inscribed, 'The gift of the Lodge of Prudence to Br. Leonard Huntington, Secy., 1788.'

Silver Gilt Pierced Circular Badge of M. E. Z.

Engraved 'Jerusalem Chapter'; hall mark, London 1822, $2\frac{1}{2}$″ diam.

Silver Gilt Pierced Circular Badge of Provincial Grand Lodge of Sussex.

Provincial Grand Deacon's Badge engraved 'Sussex'; a dove holding an olive branch in its beak. Maker, Thomas Harper 1823, $3\frac{1}{4}$″ diam.

George III Silver-gilt Ceremonial Flagon.

Of large size, with gadrooned lid surmounted by a pineapple finial; the tapering baluster body has a lip embossed with the Prince of Wales' Feathers and three shields below, one embossed with a battle and the inscription 'Chewshouse German Town, Oct. 4th, 1777,' the other with elaborate Masonic Insignia and the inscription 'Masonic Lodge Guernsey 116,' the third with a long inscription; the whole is raised on a gadrooned foot embossed with the figures of Faith, Hope and Charity; the massive handle is amusingly modelled as a lizard with coiled tail, by John Parker, London, 1805—wt. 151 oz. 10 dwt.

The inscription on the central shield reads: 'To the Hon. Major General Sir John Doyle, Bt., Colonel of the 87th (or Prince of Wales' Irish) Regiment, Lieutenant Governor of Guernsey and Alderney, Deputy Grand Master of English Freemasons. . . . Presented by the Free and accepted Masons of Orange Lodge No. 116.'
(See illustration opposite.) Purchased 18th May 1938.

George III Silver Circular Box.

The lid engraved with a contemporary coat-of-arms (Craswell impaling Rutherford), the motto 'Auxilium meum ab Alto' and the name 'Wm. Craswell 1784' within engraved border of husk and other motifs; the base is engraved with compass, square and plumb-line; by T. Phipps and E. Robinson, London, 1783—wt. 10 oz. 5 dwt.
Purchased 18th May 1938.

Set of Three Candlesticks originally from Grand Lodge.

Gilt and ebonised stem, fluted, the domed base carved with numerous Masonic emblems, each 1′ 11″ high. (See illustration opposite.)
Purchased 18th May 1938.

Two Masonic Firing Glasses.

Both enamelled in white and red on the straight-sided bowl with square and compass and other insignia; one on an opaque-twist stem and Norwich foot, 4″; the other, smaller, on a plain stem, $3\frac{1}{2}$″.
Purchased 18th May 1938.

Masonic Firing Glass.[1]

Enamelled by Beilby, Newcastle, with a meandering flowering branch round the lip in white, the waisted body with various Masonic insignia in yellow and red, $2\frac{1}{4}$″. Purchased 18th May 1938.

[1] The type is illustrated by W. A. Thorpe in colours in English and Irish Glass, 1927, pl. 3, and by the same author, History, pl. 123.

George III Silver-gilt Ceremonial Flagon
and Old Grand Lodge Candlestick

Chinese Porcelain Bowl, Chien Lung Period, c. 1775

Chinese Porcelain Bowl. Chien Lung Period, c. 1775.

Finely potted, painted on the outside with three panels divided by floral sprays, each panel painted with the Royal Arch, the keystone ornamented with various emblems of the craft; the Arch is inscribed 'Cemented with Love,' and is flanked by two pillars with the inscriptions 'Friendship and Virtue' and 'Silence' respectively. The pillars are surmounted by standing figures, one in a red coat and the other naked except for an apron. Above are two medallions, one painted with the motto and Arms of the Moderns, the other with a male bust, and the inscription 'Bedford Head, Maiden Lane.' 'St. John's Lodge' is inscribed below, the three panels being repeated on the inside of the bowl, the rim of which is decorated with a formal design, $12\frac{3}{4}$" diam. (See illustration opposite.)

Purchased 18th May 1938.

Chinese Porcelain Bowl. Chien Lung Period, c. 1750.

Famille rose decoration, gold spear-head border; on either side the full achievement of the Anti-Gallican Society, a Society established in 1745, 'to oppose the insidious arts of the French Nation and to discourage the use of French goods,' $10\frac{1}{2}$" diam. Purchased 31st May 1938.
